Ike Gives Congress Union Reform Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower sent Congress today a broad 20-point legislative program designed to drive racketeers out of labor and protect union treasuries from corrupt officials.

In a special message, Eisenhower also called for major revisions in the Taft-Hartley Act to place tighter curbs on secondary boycotts and outlaw coercive picketing.

He said enactment of the program would eliminate abuses disclosed by the Senate Rackets Committee and "protect the public interest and insure the rights and economic freedom of millions of American workers."

Eisenhower said his program would be "complete and effective" and not a "piecemeal" one. This obviously was a criticism of the bill introduced by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) Republican congressional leaders have called the Kennedy measure "half-hearted."

The President proposed that Congress enact criminal penalties for such "willful violations" of the act as "bribery between employers and employee representatives" and the "embezzlement of union funds."

The President recommended public disclosure of union finances, secret ballot election of union officers and other provisions which would put union affairs in a "goldfish bowl" to protect rank-and-file members.

He also asked Congress to change the law which now bars dismissed strikers from voting in union representation elections and allow the National Labor Relations Board to determine their eligibility. This Taft-Hartley provision has been attacked as a union-busting device by organized labor.

He asked Congress to extend the Taft-Hartley requirement for a non-Communist oath to employers who wish to use services of the NLRB. He said this would "equalize the onus" of the affidavit provision which now applies only to union officials.

Eisenhower requested two other Taft-Hartley changes favored by unions. One would speed up NLRB election procedures by eliminating a hearing where no substantial objections to an election are received. The other would authorize the labor board to certify building trade unions as bargaining representatives without an election under certain conditions.

Supervisors To Name Mental Health Board

County Takes First Step To Provide Psychiatric Service

A mental health advisory board of seven members, to study Marin's needs for psychiatric aid at public expense, will be named next Tuesday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The advisory board must be created if the county is to participate in the Short-Doyle Act, under which the state and the county share 50-50 the cost of specified mental health services. However, the creation of an advisory board does not commit the county to go ahead with the program.

After a three-hour hearing before a crowd of about 150 that packed the second floor courtroom of the courthouse annex, the supervisors last night unanimously voted to set up the advisory board. The motion by Mrs. Vera Schultz was seconded by William D. Fusselman.

BOARD MEMBERS

The mental health advisory board will be picked as follows:

One psychiatrist: Dr. Samuel Anderson of 1114 Irwin street, San Rafael, or Dr. Robert Morris, 1 Highland avenue, San Rafael.

Two physicians from among the following: Dr. Ira Degenhardt of 200 Baywood, Ross; Dr. William S. Neal of 11 Professional Center Parkway, Terra Linda; Dr. Paul F. O'Rourke of 1316 Grant avenue, Novato; Dr. Catherine Pike of Thomas court, Ross.

Two members at large from among the following: Ann L. Diamond of Ross, attorney and housewife; Fred F. Enemark of San Rafael, savings and loan executive; Mrs. Norman Freeman of Mill Valley, psychiatric social worker; Mrs. Henry Getz of San Rafael, wife of the rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church; Mrs. Donald A. MacLeod of Sausalito, executive director of National Multiple Sclerosis for Northern California, and Mrs. George E. McKenna of Greenbrae, treasurer of the Crown Zellerbach Foundation in San Francisco.

NAMES SUGGESTED

The names were recommended at a meeting of department heads with County Administrator Donald A. Jensen. The heads of the health, medical, probation, public defender and welfare departments got together with the administrator to pick the prospective members.

In addition to one psychiatrist, two physicians and two members at large, two others will comprise the mental health

Budget Sets Stage For Spending Record

Combined AP and UPI

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Edmund G. Brown asked the Legislature today to vote $256,600,000 a year in new taxes to help balance the biggest spending program in the state's history.

Income tax payers, smokers, beer drinkers, horse race players, oil companies, banks, corporations and insurance companies would bear the brunt of the new tax proposals. The average cost for each of the 15 million Californians would be $17.10 a year.

Brown submitted his tax program to the Legislature together with a proposed budget of $2,188,377,635, up 6.5 per cent from the current budget which was sponsored by Republican ex-Gox. Goodwin J. Knight.

Democrat Brown blamed his Republican predecessor for the state's financial plight which will find the budget 68 million dollars in deficit on June 30 and facing a 268-million-dollar deficit by June 30, 1960, unless new and higher taxes are levied.

Brown, who took office 23 days ago, told the Legislature:

"For years now, we have been deceiving ourselves about our state finances. Despite expanded economy, we have spent far more than we have taken in. Up to now, it has been possible to avoid facing up to the fiscal responsibilities because surpluses built up during and after the war . . . have been used to meet the deficits.

"We must now put our state back in the black. To do this, I offer neither platitudes nor panaceas. There will be no fancy schemes and no money

Brown's Tax Program Hit By McCarthy

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The leader of the Republican caucus in the State Senate, Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy, lashed out this morning at tax increases proposed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown in his budget message to the Legislature today.

McCarthy said the budget can be balanced without new taxes.

"I am definitely opposed to any increase in taxes this year," he declared. "I join with Sen. James McBride's position that it will be feasible to balance the budget by using the various reserve funds which are available." (McBride, Venturo Democrat and chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has been outspoken against any tax increase.)

"It appears that California is going to enjoy a tremendous prosperity this year in all economic phases and the state will derive many more millions of dollars than it did last year," McCarthy went on.

"The present services of government can and should be maintained with this additional income. In the consideration of any additional sources of taxes, the imposition of any further tax on cigarettes and beer is the very last I would consider."

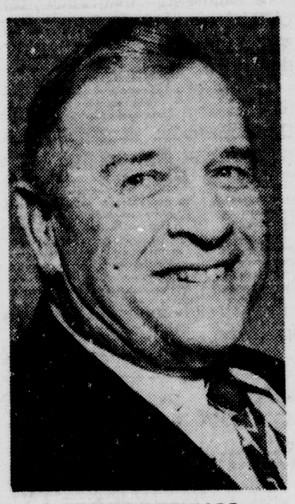
McDougall Will Run Again As Tam Trustee



TOM McDOUGALL
He'll try again

Tom McDougall, persistent though unsuccessful candidate for Tamalpais High School District trustee, announced today he will again try for the post at the May 19 trustee election.

He was the first to announce for any school district trusteeship at stake in Marin County this year.

Terms of Howard I. McGill of Belvedere and William B. Lewis of San Anselmo expire this year. McGill is board chairman.

Three times previously, McDougall has tried for election and been defeated. "This time I'll make out," he declared today.

He lives at 43 Reed street, Homestead, "just 30 feet from the Mill Valley boundary," and recently completed a term on the Homestead Sanitary Board.

A longtime objector to what he termed excessive school costs, McDougall said he will campaign for "better education at a quarter less cost."

"We should stop the misrepresentations about the school tax to the public," McDougall declared. "There should be no more special elections and there should be a stop to wasting students' time and using them as lobbyists. I strongly oppose the 65-cent tax, raising the total from $1.55 to $2.20."

McDougall is a cement contractor.

County Funds Will Aid Aviation Firm

Marin's county supervisors yesterday agreed to use one-third or more of the county's aviation gasoline tax fund toward county acquisition of Richardson Bay tidelots needed to augment Commodore Aviation's seaplane landing area.

The vote was 4-1, Supervisor William A. Gnoss dissenting. It came after long debate before a standing-room crowd over the use of public funds to benefit a private business.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman offered a motion permitting use of one-third of the gas tax fund, and no more, to acquire 25 acres of tidelots. But on motion of Supervisor Vera Schultz, Fusselman and Gnoss dissenting, the original motion was amended to read "one-third or more, as conditions indicate."

Fusselman then voted in favor of the motion, as amended.

In approving the fund allocation, the board declared Commodore Aviation must raise the balance of the amount required for county acquisition of the tidelots. The property, consisting of 13 parcels, has been valued by three appraisers—William G. Rutherford, Farrington L. Jones and Neil J. Brodsgar—at $26,200, $19,450 and $19,253, respectively.

Robert Law, Commodore president, will attempt to negotiate wtih the affected property owners. If he fails to reach an agreement, the county will file a condemnation suit, providing Commodore has raised its share of the money needed to obtain the submerged land.

Law orignally asked that the Extensive 1-Way Street Plan Eyed

A complete one-way street plan for downtown San Rafael —with one-way traffic on Second, Third, Fifth, and Mission —is being suggested by the San Rafael Traffic Advisory Committee.

The plan won tentative approval of the San Rafael Planning Commission last night and will go for study before the Mayor's One-Way Street Committee, which meets tomorrow for breakfast at King Cotton restaurant.

Norris Rawles, traffic engineer, stressed the new plan is just a "work session idea," subject to changes or a complete rejection by the one-way street committee.

The traffic advisory committee, which developed the plan for extensive one-way streets, includes Rawles, Police Chief Frank Kelly, City Planner Mitchell Baird and City Manager Dan E. Andersen.

The new plan was worked out at the suggestion of Mayor John F. McInnes, who said he would like to see a complete one-way street plan adopted along with the "Big Circle" plan for the Irwin street underpass area. The "Big Circle" one-way plan involving only a block square (Irwin, Third, Lincoln and Francisco back to Irwin) will go into effect March 2.

The complete one-way plan would include the "Big Circle" and work this way:

Second street one-way eastbound from Miracle Mile to 101. Third street one-way westbound from Irwin to D street. At D street, one-way to Fourth, and one-way west to Miracle Mile. Fifth avenue — one-way eastbound. Mission avenue — one-way westbound to H street, down to Fourth and west to Miracle Mile.

Several cross streets would also become one-way to provide links between the east-west one-way thoroughfares. Between Second street and Mission avenue, B street would be one-way northbound, C street one-way southbound, D street one-way northbound, and E street one-way southbound. G street would also be one-way northbound to let cars from Second street head north to reach Fifth avenue.

Ike Denies Rift With Warren

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower today branded as irresponsible a report of a rift with Chief Justice Earl Warren. He said he felt that if Warren had some criticism of his conduct of the presidency he was capable of telling the President himself.

The question of cool relations between the President and Warren was brought up in the chief executive's news conference because of a story printed today by the New York Herald Tribune.

The question about his relationship with Warren was prompted by a story by Robert J. Donovan, chief of the Herald Tribune's Washington Bureau.

Eisenhower spoke gravely and swiftly when he was asked about it. He said it was well known that he thought a Chief Executive should not offer his personal opinions on the actions of the high court.

Joint Sewer Plant Use Again Eyed

Reopening of negotiations for joint use by Corte Madera and Ross Valley Sanitary Districts of the latter's Greenbrae treatment plant was disclosed today.

Standish Green, acting chairman of a 15-man citizen committee studying Corte Madera sewage problems subsequent to voter turndown of an $850,000 bond issue for a new treatment plant, said this fulfills one of the goals of his committee. The group urged a "no" vote in the bond election.

Ralph Noah, business manager of the Ross Valley district, said a proposed agreement submitted to the Corte Madera board is the same as was offered—and rejected—last July.

William A. Adam, manager of the Corte Madera district, refused to say whether such an agreement had been received by the distrct. He said "I have been crucified before"

Novato Will Try Again On Merger

There'll be another election on unification of Novato and San Jose School Districts this year, if Novato district's board has its way.

Novato School District trustees last night unanimously approved a suggestion by Trustee Earl Marshall that the County Committee on School District Organization be asked to call for another election this year on the unification.

Novato voters approved the unification proposal on Jan. 13, but it was turned down by San Jose District voters. State law requires a majority in both districts must approve such a merger.

Since the election, Marshall told his fellow trustees, "about 400 people in the San Jose District have signed a petition stating they would favor unification."

Marshall will carry the recommendation to the county committee's meeting tonight.

SAUSALITO ROW

City Manager Mum On Chief Hopefuls

Sausalito City Manager Donald A. Duerr refused today to confirm or deny rumors that the three successful candidates in an examination for Sausalito police chief are all from outside the city.

Duerr said he would not announce the names of the three.

"I consider this a private matter," the city manager maintained. "If the individuals involved wish to talk, that is their own affair."

At last week's city council meeting, a lengthy petition signed by some 70 residents was presented by Mrs. Marian Cox, seeking appointment as police chief of Sgt. Howard Goerndt, now acting chief.

Duerr announced yesterday that the three eligibles are "all from within a 100-mile radius of Sausalito" but declined further identification.

He said that although the council-manager ordinance gives the manager appointing authority, he will consult council members before naming a new police chief.

Councilman George E. Keeney, critic of Duerr and the entire manager system, today lashed out at the procedure being used in appointing a police chief successor to Louis P. Mountanos, now sheriff.

"Look at Belvedere," Keeney said. "When their chief was promoted to undersheriff, they took a man from their own staff and made him chief.

"How about San Francisco? When Frank Ahearn died, Mayor George Christopher reached down into the ranks and appointed a career man."

Keeney praised Goerndt as well-liked and respected by many Sausalitans, including all the merchants—which is mighty important."

As to conferring with council members on the appointment, Keeney took his fellow members to task, declaring: "They have a private little dinner meeting before council meetings so that all decisions

A WEEK UNATTENDED?

Dufficy Denies Delay In Care Of Patient

Complaining that a member of the Marin County Board of Supervisors had made a charge reflecting on "my personal integrity," Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy Jr., county medical director, denied yesterday that a patient under his care lay unattended in bed for one week with a broken hip.

The denial, in a letter to the board, obviously was directed at Supervisor William D. Fusselman, who was not present when the letter was read.

Fusselman last week interpreted evidence presented in a hospital appeal case as indicating a woman patient with a fractured hip had not received proper care while a one-week controversy raged over whether she was a private patient or a patient of the county. The patient has since died.

In his letter, Dr. Dufficy said the supervisor not only implied neglect of the patient but also malpractice.

The Dufficy letter went on to say the patient with the broken hip was at no time under the care of the county while confined at Ross General

Few Funds Set For Marin's Parks, Beaches

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—A $23,382,689 program for developing and operating California's state beaches and parks in 1959-60 was outlined today by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

But Marin County beaches and parks got little additional help or funds for expansion.

Only one additional park attendant was proposed, for Stinson Beach State Park. There were seasonal park men proposed for Angel Island State Park, four man-months, Tomales State Park, four man-months, and Taylor State Park, seven man-months. These summertime aides would be hired to help during the rush season.

MAJOR PROGRAM

Only major construction program in the county was for Tomales State Park. Proposed there were a new sewage system, $39,276; a new water system, $32,000, and two small comfort stations, $6,500.

A proposed first stage development for Stinson Beach's master plan apparently was cut from the program as Governor Brown trimmed five million dollars off last year's budget. No funds were included in the new budget for this project.

Only other park work scheduled in Marin are minor jobs totaling only $12,726 in Tomales State Park.

TIDELAND ROYALTIES

The governor said in his budget that in 1956 and 1957 the Legislature had approved more beach and park projects than the state has money to pay for. Projects had been approved on the basis of 12 million dollars per year revenue from the state's tidelands royalties. He noted that only during the current fiscal year had the incomes actually reached that point and next year they are expected to be lower.

Projects at present approved will be short some 11 million dollars at the end of next fiscal year, he estimated.

The governor did call, however, for $1,724,000 for land acquisition and development for a state maritime park in San Francisco and $200,000 to restore two old schooners to be displayed there.

TRAIL WORK

He also sought $100,000 for improvement of unspecified riding and hiking trails in the state, although he did not suggest spending more for expansion of the state's infant roadside rests program.

Three Marin state parks have some acquisition funds left over from previous authorizations, Brown noted. Stinson Beach has a $34,920 balance for purchase of the Seadowns property. Taylor State Park has $38,500 in credit for land purchases, and Tamalpais State Park still has the million dollars the 1957 Legislature gave it for purchase of the Dias ranch and Frank's Valley.

Assemblyman Richard McCollister, however, has introduced legislation which would allow only parts of the two properties to be purchased, with the remaining funds to be used for other expansions of the park.

Budget Would Add 36 Employees At Quentin

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Edmund G. Brown called today for an additional 36 employes at San Quentin Prison, bringing the total to be employed during the next fiscal year to 566 and pushing the prison's operational budget over six million dollars for the first time.

The governor made the request in his budget message to the Legislature this morning, asking for more money to handle the rising number of convicts and juvenile delinquents. At the same time, however, he proposed a drastic cut in the construction of correctional institutions.

BUILDING BUDGET

In San Quentin's building budget for next year, Brown asked for just $187,114. The major portion of this, $100,000, was allocated to relocation of the exercise fields, the first step in the prison's master plan for modernization of its physical plant.

In addition, $16,628 is earmarked for remodeling the administration building, $29,670 for replacing the furniture factory roof, $15,000 for improving cell lighting, $16,866 for improving cell shelving and $8,950 for minor projects under $5,000 each.

The total is about $50,000 less than the present year, and $650,000 less than last year, when major expenditure was made for the new isolation-segregation building being constructed inside the walls and due for completion in September.

A MAJOR FACTOR

Completion of the new building is one of the major factors in the increase in the total number of prison employes. A new custodial sergeant and eight officers are scheduled to be assigned to the new building. An additional eight officers will be required for the expected population increase in the prison. Brown estimated that population in San Quentin itself would rise to 4,832 prisoners by the end of the next fiscal year as compared with 4,511 at the start of this year. The prison was designed to handle 2,700 men.

A new sergeant and five more officers will be required for relief duties next year. A correctional counselor would be employed. Two professional and six clerical positions will need to be filled in classification and parole because of the increased prison personnel and prisoner movements.

SMOG PROBLEM

Increased workloads require, Brown said, the hiring of another dentist, a librarian and a storekeeper. The problem of smog also requires the hiring of a new truck operator who will convey garbage and trash to the county dump rather than burn it as in previous years.

Salary of the new employes totals $156,187. This has been partly offset by the ending of jobs for 19 temporary employes authorized for one year only in this year's budget and the elimination of a budget analyst position.

Brown recommended, however, that correctional employes, like other state workers, get a 5 per cent salary increase this year.

Total cost of San Quentin operation soared to a record $6,108,457, more than $231,000 higher than the present year and more than $700,000 above last year's costs.

LOWEST PER CAPITA

At that, the largest of the state's nine prison facilities has the lowest per capita cost. Brown's budget showed San Quentin costs to be $1,319 per prisoner per year. This was by far the lowest per capita, not much more than half of the $2,114 per man spent on inmates at the Tehachapi prison.

San Quentin's ratio of employes to inmates was also the lowest. It had only one employee for each 7.9 men. The medical facility at Vacaville has an employe for each four inmates.

The 1959-60 operations budget for the state Corrections Department totals $35,050,694. The California Youth Authority would get $15,549,041, both agencies assigned slightly more than two million dollars more than during the current year. But Brown asked for only $7,956,695 for construction by both agencies, about 24 million dollars less than this year.

BUDGET

miracles. I bring you, instead, economy in government, a balanced budget and a sound program for financing it."

Major new or higher taxes sought by the governor:

1. Increases in state income taxes, primarily in middle and high income brackets, to net 71 million dollars.

2. A three-cent tax on every package of cigarettes plus a 15 per cent tax on other tobacco products for 68 million dollars.

3. Higher franchise taxes to add another 58.6 million dollars.

4. A new severance tax on extraction of oil and natural gas, estimated to provide 23.2 million dollars a year.

5. Horse race players, who currently give 13 cents of every dollar wagered to the state and tracks, who get another two-cent bite out of every dollar, all of it earmarked for the state. Total state revenue would be 12.4 million dollars.

6. A boost in the beer tax from two cents a gallon to seven cents for 10 million dollars annually.

7. Higher inheritance tax rates to net eight million dollars.

8. Changing insurance tax collections and time of payment for another five million dollars a year.

If all of Brown's tax proposals are adopted by the Democratically controlled Assembly and Senate, the state would be left with a deficit of only five million dollars at the end of the fiscal year instead of 268 million. That deficit, the governor said, may be wiped out by economy measures already underway in state agencies.

Brown's budget provides 656.9 million dollars for state operations, up 10.2 per cent; 326.6 million for capital outlay, down 5.1 per cent, and $1,204,800,000 for local assistance, up 8.1 per cent.

The governor recommended a 5 per cent pay raise for all 110,000 state employees, including state college faculties, at a cost of 32 million dollars.

The big accent on spending remains where it has been for years—on the classrooms.

Fully 40 per cent of the budget is reserved for education, including the University of California and state colleges. The total comes to $887,589,000, an increase of $87,518,000.

Brown advocated a series of changes in state apportionments to public schools that would raise the amount by 60.7 million dollars.

State aid to schools was boosted temporarily by the 1957 Legislature from $180 to $193.37 per pupil in average daily attendance. The Department of Education asked a $17.14 boost, totaling $54,187,545.

Brown recommended a $7.45 increase to $200.82. Of this, $2.49 would go for handicapped children.

The governor, in his budget, also:

Stripped state aid for adult education by 25 per cent.

Decided against higher support for driver training.

Ruled out additional funds to encourage local districts to lengthen the school year.

Looking broadly at the mounting school bill, the governor urged educators to make a critical re-examination of their operations. He said economies can be achieved through district reorganization and elimination of small, highly expensive districts.

In addition, he recommended elimination of the state subsidy for mosquito abatement except for districts now taxing at the maximum 40-cent rate.

Recession Will Cut Vehicle Fee Payments

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Last year's recession probably will cut expected state payments to California cities and counties for motor vehicle license fees, Controller Alan Cranston said today.

The fees, levied at the rate of $2 for every $100 in value of each vehicle, are split evenly between the state's counties and its 352 incorporated cities for uses related to state programs.

Cranston estimated the cities will receive a $5.06 per capita allocation and counties $5.09 this year from a total fund of $107,721,530. The per capita totals are 27 cents less than April 1958 estimates.

That prediction over-estimated motor vehicle sales, Cranston said, and failed to gauge the depth of last year's economic decline.

Part of the 1959 payment was distributed in December—$6,333,588. Cranston said three-fourths of the remainder of payments will be distributed in April and the rest in June.

119 More Highway Patrolmen Sought

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An increase of 119 uniformed officers in the Highway Patrol and $113,930 for a special patrol task force for the 1960 Winter Olympics was asked today by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

His 1959-60 budget calls for two more lieutenants, 11 sergeants and 106 traffic officers for the coming fiscal year. The additional cost next year would be $578,040.

The patrol now has 2,531 uniformed personnel.

$125 Million Mental Health Budget Asked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown proposed a $125,686,927 Department of Mental Health budget today but said that no major construction for additional bed capacity for mentally ill is included.

Brown's 1959-60 fiscal year budget for the department—just three million dollars above last year budget—cited figures showing a sudden leveling off in the mentally ill population.

The capital outlay portion of the budget—that part which deals with construction—was $9,327,325 for 1959-60, $7,472,245 below the 1958-59 figure.

On the dark side of the picture, however, is a forecast by the administration that the mentally retarded population is on the increase and will need additional bed space.

The administration asked for $116,359,602 to run existing facilities—$10,545,383 over the 1958-59 budget—but this included the across-the-board 5 per cent pay boost which accounts for about eight million dollars of the increase.

Governor Wants To Eliminate 3 Special Funds

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown today began what might become a drawn-out attack on the special funds which currently finance a large portion of California's state government.

Brown, in his budget message to the Legislature, suggested that the State Fair and Exposition Fund, Wildlife Conservation Fund and State College Fund be abolished.

The governor said he was asking the lawmakers to transfer the money in the three funds to the state treasury and then appropriate money from that source to finance fairs, conservation and colleges.

"I am not proposing any decrease for 1959-60 in appropriations that would otherwise have been made from the fund had it remained in existence," Brown said.

The governor suggested that no action be taken to knock out any of the 80 other special funds.

Funds Asked For Radiation Smog Studies

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown asked for money today to keep watch on increasing radiation hazards and to expand air pollution monitoring during the next year.

The governor requested $239,216 in his 1959-60 budget for a radiological health program in view of "potential hazards associated with the increased use of radiation sources for peacetime uses."

Brown wants to hire 23 men to make periodic inspections of radioactive waste, evaluate health hazards of waste disposal and use of isotope tracers, and monitor radiological air contamination.

They also would keep a close watch on the entire radiation field, advising local health officers and assisting in site location and other safety aspects of reactor developments.

Brown Would End Cadet Corps Aid

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California's new economy ax today lopped off state support to the high school Cadet Corps.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, in his budget message to the Legislature, suggested that, in addition to state aid to student soldiers, the state allowance for National Guard officers' uniforms be junked.

Brown said the two moves would save the state $541,000 a year.

The governor also asked the Legislature to eliminate a state subsidy to veterans' organizations for furnishing claims and rights services to veterans.

Brown said there was "inadequate justification" for continuing the program because the federal government has the responsibility in the field. The estimated saving was $1,100,000.

Pay Hike For U.C. Employees Asked

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A 5 per cent across-the-board pay increase for University of California employees and a $43,525,189 slash in capital outlay were included today in Gov. Edmund G. Brown's economy budget.

The pay boost for university employees along with other wage adjustments would cost the state $8,296,716 in the proposed $168,088,533 University of California budget.

Capital outlay was cut some $43,525,189 below last year's spending program, but finance officials say this is not bad since it still conforms with the state's five-year $214,000,000 university expansion program.

2 New Colleges Delayed For Year

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The scheduled opening of new state colleges in Alameda and Orange Counties has been postponed for at least a year, it was revealed today in Gov. Edmund G. Brown's budget.

The two new colleges, originally scheduled to open next fall in rented facilities, requested one million dollars each to begin operations. The request was omitted from the budget.

Marinite Testifies For Government In Sedition Trial

The labor troubles of a Shanghai publisher and U. S. policies in Korea became involved today in the San Francisco trial of two men and a woman on charges of sedition.

Judge Louis E. Goodman of U. S. District Court, declaring much testimony from initial prosecution witnesses yesterday appeared irrelevant to the issue, warned he would not permit the trial "to degenerate into a discussion of American policies in Korea."

RANDALL C. GOULD
Reds force him under

THREE ON TRIAL

On trial are John W. (Bill) Powell, 39, who published the now-defunct China Monthly Review; Powell's wife, Sylvia, 38, and Julian Schuman, also 38.

The labor troubles were those of the Shanghai Post and Mercury, published by Randall C. Gould, now a Mill Valley resident.

Gould, first of a series of "old China hands" called yesterday as prosecution witnesses, said he tried in vain to continue to publish his English-language daily after the Communists took over the Chinese government. It folded in June of 1949.

WELCOMED BY REDS

Under cross-examination by defense attorney Charles B. Barry, Gould admitted he had run an editorial welcoming the new Red government of China in 1949. But he soon learned, he said, that "they wished us to publish their way, at their discretion."

Garry asked if labor troubles did not lead to the suspension of the Post and Mercury. There were labor troubles, testified Gould; but they were not the primary cause of the suspension, he insisted.

Gould was followed on the witness stand by Charles S. Miner of New York, representative of an American insurance company which owned controlling interest in the Post and Mercury, and Julius J. Thomson of Calistoga, onetime Shanghai banker. Both testified to being forced out of business in Shanghai by the Reds—while Powell continued to publish.

Powell is charged with publishing false reports that the United States waged germ warfare in Korea, and exaggerated accounts of U. S. casualties in the fighting there.

Defense attorney Garry said Powell assumes full responsibility for publication of the material which led to the sedition charges.

"Neither Mrs. Powell nor Schuman had anything to do with what went into the magazine . . . policies were totally and exclusively under the control of Bill Powell," Garry told the court.

The prosecution has announced it will call such witnesses as Gens. Mark Clark and Matthew Ridgway, both commanders of United Nations forces in Korea, and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff at the time. When they will testify is not known.

The Powells live in San Francisco; Schuman in New York. Mrs. Powell and Schuman were associate editors of the magazine.

Changes Voted In County Welfare Setup

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a set of amendments to the county welfare manual necessitated by creation of a county medical department last September.

Medical care of indigent sick and dependent poor persons is the responsibility of the new department. This care previously was shared by the county welfare department and the now defunct office of county physician.

PRINCIPAL CHANGE

Principal welfare manual change approved yesterday permits the medical department "to refuse other than necessary care where transfer of property without suitable consideration, change of abode or other contrivances are effected in order to meet eligibility requirements or where a spouse of a responsible relative obviously can afford to provide the optional care but refuses to do so."

Under this amendment, there is a presumption that property transfers made five or more years prior to application for non-essential care "were not for the purposes of qualifying for aid."

4-0 VOTE

The supervisors voted 4-0 to approve the amendments, recommended by County Administrator Donald A. Jensen. Supervisor William D. Fusselman, out of the board room when the vote was taken, later requested a one-week delay to give the affected department heads an opportunity to express opinions to the board. But his colleagues refused to rescind the action.

Before the vote, Jensen acknowledged that Miss Betty L. Presley, county welfare director, and Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, had wanted the matter put over one week. He said Miss Presley had not had an opportunity to study all the amendments and Dr. Albrecht wished to add a paragraph on contagious disease.

Urging an immediate vote, Chairman Walter R. Castro said additional amendments could be approved later, if necessary.

Hospital Board Protests Changes

Directors of the Marin County Hospital District last night unanimously agreed to send a "strong letter of protest" to the Marin County Board of Supervisors on new county welfare and emergency procedure.

Harold Reide, hospital attorney, said he could see no place the new procedure would give the hospital protection for inpatient emergencies.

Mrs. Marion C. Ibach, secretary, said she thought losses caused by the county agreement should be put on the tax rolls.

RECREATION CENTER

Poll Slated On Plan For Hunter Training

The entire Southern Marin Recreation Center membership of 395 families will be polled by mail to determine reaction to a center-sponsored hunter safety training course for children, it was decided at last night's membership meeting.

The decision came after vociferous debate on a classroom course on firearms handling proposed by Mrs. Erwin Frakas, center member and Reed Parent-Teacher Club children's activities committee chairman. "There will be no range practice in this course," she said. "It will be conducted entirely within the classroom."

"If enough members are interested in having their children participate, the class will be offered," director Arno Raynor said. "The decision will be up to the parents."

A slate of four new directors was unanimously elected and will be seated at a special meeting Monday. New directors, serving three-year terms are Fred G. DuPuis and Fred W. Zimmerman Jr. of Tiburon and Alan E. Bartholmy and Robert N. Wineman of Belvedere.

Directors were authorized to negotiate with the Tiburon Sanitary District on the sale of a small piece of center land to satisfy a $5,700 sewer connection fee.

The plans for the west wing addition, estimated to cost $7,000, were received by the membership from architect George Banning.

Shirley To Address Lions In Larkspur

Richard L. Shirley, manager of the Marin Visitors Bureau, will describe the values of building up Marin to become "the Bay Area's leading place to visit" at the noon luncheon tomorrow of the Larkspur Lions Club in Veterans Hall.

Jack Barry, president, is the program chairman.

Marin GOP To Maintain Permanent San Rafael HQ

The Marin County Republican Central Committee voted last night to maintain a permanent Republican headquarters in San Rafael. Several prospective locations were discussed and a decision will be made shortly, chairman Elmer S. Worlund said.

Funds for a full-time paid employee will not be available immediately, so the new office will be operated on a part-time basis for the present, the committee decided.

Ed Grundstrom Jr., young Novato attorney and civic leader, was elected to fill a vacancy in the 5th supervisorial district.

The resignation of Mrs. Alice Lancaster of Mill Valley was accepted with regret. Press of private matters made it necessary for her to withdraw from public activities, she said.

Fred G. Dupuis of Tiburon, who was the GOP candidate for Congress last fall; with Mrs. Mary Ellen Irwin of Greenbrae, a member of the State Central Committee, and William T. Bagley, San Rafael attorney, were named as associate members of the county committee.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales was named 1st District chairman in charge of precinct and registration work, and Edward P. Ward of Corte Madera was chosen for a similar responsibility in the 2nd District. William D. Keeler of Mill Valley was also the unanimous choice of 3rd District members for a like chairmanship, and Richard George of Novato was named in the 5th District.

Russ Lauterwasser of Larkspur was named vice chairman of the finance committee.

The committee will hold its next meeting Feb. 24.

House Gets First Negro Page Boy

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago boy left for Washington last night to become the only Negro page boy in the U. S. House of Representatives.

The youth, James A. Johnson Jr., 14, was appointed a page under the sponsorship of Rep. Barratt O'Hara, a Chicago Democrat.

O'Hara, who said there was a slight mixup over approval of the boy's appointment by the House Patronage Committee, said he had been assured by Southern congressmen they would not oppose it.

3rd Fireman Hired For Tam Valley

Commissioners of the Tamalpais Valley Fire District last night hired Herman Koolhoven as the third paid member of the fire department, joining Chief Herbery (Bud) Owen and Ralph Smith.

Under a plan worked out by commissioners of both the fire district and the Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District, the three men will also handle the duties formerly performed by Byron O. Boulware, who recently resigned as sanitary district manager.

Fire District Chairman Raymond Massagli announced an explanatory letter on the plan would be sent to all residents of the district next week.

Rayburn's Market Grand Opening Set

Rayburn's, Novato's newest supermarket at 850 Grant avenue, will hold a grand opening celebration tonight through Sunday.

The opening marks the culmination of many years of grocery experience by its owner, Andrew (Andy) Rayburn.

The new $40,000 building, housing the market, was erected by W. T. Simmons of Novato, to replace the old building destroyed in a spectacular fire last June 2. Rayburn, along with three other merchants, was burned out in that blaze.

"At first, I was numbed by it," Rayburn recalls today. "It was my home in a way. I had operated the store in Novato continuously since 1942. I actually didn't come out of the state of shock until the insurance adjustors said that everything wasn't lost.

"It was then I realized that there was an opportunity to come back."

Rayburn did come back. Now an enlarged grocery store, with individually owned and operated meat and produce departments, has taken shape in the confines of 6,300 square feet of floor space.

Rayburn, who manages the grocery lines, leases one-fourth of the store area to Lou Jaroslovsky, manager of the meat department. Jaroslovsky also is owner of meat markets in Santa Rosa and Petaluma.

Primo Soloni, owner of two produce markets in San Francisco, manages Rayburn's expansive fruit and vegetable department.

Twenty persons have been hired to staff the new store, and a 28-space parking lot just west of the entrance is open. A greatly enlarged liquor department has been installed. Three check stands have replaced a single stand in the old store.

CLOSED 8 DAYS

For eight days after the June fire, Rayburn closed down. On the ninth day, he was back in business at a temporary location at 852 Grant avenue. "Except for those eight days," he recalls, "I had been in continuous business in Novato since the day I first opened."

Rayburn, who lives at 120 Brookside avenue, San Anselmo, with his wife Natalie and their three children, operated two grocery stores in that city during 1946. He sold both in 1947 in favor of the Novato business. He also has owned and operated stores in Cotati (for eight years) and in Petaluma (for two years).

DEPRESSION MOVE

"The depression forced me into the grocery business in 1932," he relates. "It seemed to me then that in the grocery business at least I could have beans to eat. At that time, I didn't even know there was more than one kind of potato."

Rayburn remembers Novato as being a sleepy little town in 1942.

Since then, he has established several "firsts" in the business community of Novato. He was the first businessman to advertise weekend specials, he says. Others he lists as fluorescent lighting, self-service, sale of oleomargarine, frozen foods and a liquor department.

"I've seen an evolution in the grocery business," he recalls.

Rayburn's new market is evidence that the evolution has had a helping hand, too, by the owner of Novato's newest grocery mart.

Marinite Named By Brown To Pilot Commission

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Albert W. Gatov of Greenbrae yesterday was appointed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown to the Board of Pilot Commissioners for the bays of San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun.

The new commissioner, vice president and general manager of the Inland Harbor Storage Co., has been in the shipping business in California since 1927. He was former chairman of the Federal Maritime Boards, a past president of the Pacific American Steamship Assn., and official American delegate to the PATO Conference for International Control of Ocean Shipping.

Gatov, 50, has lived for many years in Greenbrae with his wife and two daughters. He was the Northern California campaign chairman for Clair Engle for senator last year. He replaces Rear Adm. Sigval B. Johnson on the board.

Cerrell Appointed State Demo Aide

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Joseph R. Cerrell was appointed executive secretary of the California State Democratic Central Committee yesterday.

Assemblyman William A. Munnell (D-Montebello), chairman of the statewide committee, announced the appointment of Cerrell, who was active in Gov. Edmund G. Brown's Southern California election campaign.

Ike, Dulles Indicate U.S. Willing To Parley With Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles both signaled U.S. willingness today to enter into high-level negotiations with the Soviet Union—perhaps even a summit conference—provided there is some prospect for agreement on critical issues.

Dulles warned anew that recent proposals from Moscow on such issues as Berlin and German unity are actually designed to undermine the position of the Western Powers in the world.

He reflected a determination on the part of the United States and its Allies to explore intensively in the next few months the possibilities of agreement with the Soviet Union but to keep a wary lookout for trickery.

Dulles testified before the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Eisenhower briefly replied to foreign policy questions at a news conference.

Responding to a question as to whether he thought a spring meeting with the Soviet Union would be useful, Eisenhower said he thought any talks that deal fruitfully with the differences between the two governments are useful.

Dulles said there is nothing the United States will not do —including a summit meeting with the Soviets—if it holds a reasonable prospect of promoting peace.

In a reference at his news conference to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's announcement yesterday that the Soviet Union has intercontinental ballistic missiles in production, Eisenhower said the United States is making very remarkable progress in the ballistic missile field and has no cause for hangdog humiliation.

Without saying whether this country has intercontinental missiles at the production stage, Eisenhower said that the U.S. missile program is going forward as rapidly as possible under the direction of capable scientists.

Student Expelled For Drinking

A 16-year-old San Rafael High School boy has been expelled from school because he showed up at a recent school dance intoxicated.

Supt. Frank L. Lucas presented the case to the San Rafael Board of Education last night. Board members voted to expel the student for the rest of this school year.

The boy had apparently consumed liquor off campus before arriving at the dance, Lucas reported. School regulations strictly prohibit bringing liquor or appearing at any school function in an intoxicated condition.

A military tribunal considering an appeal from the first Batistan sentenced to death in the capital, ex-Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, also suspended its deliberations, apparently to await new defense evidence.

The second defendant, ex-Capt. Pedro Morejon, also was expected to appeal the death sentence given him early yesterday.

Officials of Fidel Castro's revolutionary army meanwhile announced arrests at five different places on charges of plotting to overthrow the new regime Large supplies of weapons and ammunition also were seized, the officials reported

THE SMILE THAT WINS

Leading two male competitors in "Checker of the Year" voting at the Sausalito Purity Store is Mrs. Dorothy Gilliam, who was born within two blocks of her present home at 520 Easterby street, Sausalito, and has never lived farther away. Mrs. Gilliam, whose husband owns a Tidewater Oil Co. station on Bridgeway and is prominent in Shriner, Lions Club and Native Sons of the Golden West activities, became a Purity Stores checker in 1940. She later took time out for two children (Sharon, now at Marin Catholic High School, and Ronnie, at Bayside School), but has been back on the job seven years. Row Settled, L.A. Markets To Re-Open

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The strike-lockout in 1,000 Los Angeles supermarkets is over. Management and clerks union representatives reached agreement at 5 a.m. today on a new five-year contract.

Operators of the markets closed since New Year's said they hoped to re-open tomorrow. Some reportedly had begun restocking their counters with meats and other perishables yesterday—when agreement appeared imminent.

Settlement was reached on the 28th day of the tieup.

A joint employer-union statement said the clerks will get a hike of $6 weekly, or 15½ cents an hour the first year. Another raise of $4.60 a week or 11½ cents an hour will come the second year.

Annual raises will be given for five years.

FIRST PUBLIC FORUM

125 At Hearing On Hub City Plan

San Anselmo's in-the-works master plan elicited an audience of 125 persons and a dozen questions last night.

By a show of hands, members of the audience indicated that half of them thought parking space should be increased downtown San Anselmo, only a few favored covering the creek behind stores facing on San Anselmo avenue, and about one-fourth thought a pedestrian mall should be created of downtown San Anselmo avenue, with traffic routed around the central business district.

The public forum at the Isabel Cook School was sponsored by the San Anselmo Lions Club. It was the first large public presentation by planner consultant James M. Campbell. Previews of much of what he said last night had been heard by the San Anselmo City Council, planning Commission and Chamber of Commerce.

Envisioned in the master plan as it now stands are:

1. A pedestrian mall for the central business district in the manner of a regional shopping center with traffic and parking spaces on its perifery. Campbell admitted a mall was radical and expensive and probably would be a "last step."

2. Doubling the number of business establishments but keeping the downtown section as the central business district. Twenty acres of Sunny Hills property is proposed for medical and other professional offices with neighborhood-type retail stores.

3. An increase of San Anselmo's 12,000 population in the next 40 years to a possible 25,000 if it includes "unincorporated satellite territory that might be annexed."

4. A state highway through San Rafael on the Miracle Mile and out Red Hill avenue and Center boulevard. Sir Francis Drake boulevard would be a secondary thoroughfare. Campbell said Police Chief Donald T. Wood estimated that 65 per cent of San Anselmo's traffic is "simply passing through."

Campbell said a traffic count on a Monday in December from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. chalked up totals that "according to the Division of Highways would justify freeway planning."

More than 15,000 cars passed over a portion of Drake boulevard south of Madrone avenue; 8,850 headed east at the beginning of Red Hill avenue and 7,900 were westbound on Red Hill just before the hub intersection; 7,900 passed the city hall on San Anselmo avenue; 7,000 went out Center boulevard near Madrone; 5,000 passed Ross avenue on Drake boulevard; and 5,400 turned up Butterfield road.

Campbell said, however, that he believed it would be unnecessary for Center and Drake boulevards to be made freeways if traffic could be drained off in three spots: from Fairfax to Terra Linda and Highway 101; from Sleepy Hollow to Terra Linda, and from San Francisco avenue or Sunny Hills to Fifth avenue in San Rafael.

The suggestion of a downtown pedestrian mall has received less than enthusiastic response from San Anselmo merchants. Campbell said it possibly could be financed by an assessment district or by parking meters.

He said the seven million dollars in retail sales could be increased to an ultimate 22 million if some drastic steps were taken. He said businesses and professional-administrative type establishments were San Anselmo's only hope for "firming up the tax base."

Campbell said a major part of money spent by San Anselmo citizens is spent outside the community.

Although he declined to give any estimate of the cost of establishing a mall, additional parking and a new street in downtown San Anselmo, he told the San Anselmo citizens:

"We think you have a sick area in the downtown. You'll have to pay something to cure the patient."

Four Youths Jailed For Tire Thefts

Four youths were jailed today for stealing tires and other auto accessories from cars in San Anselmo and San Rafael.

All loot was recovered, most of it in the garage at the home of Robert Vernon Treacy, 20, of 2450 Fifth avenue, San Rafael.

The other youths are Gary Edward Mallon, 21, of 31 Hillview avenue, San Rafael; Ronald James Ray, 20, of 16 Skyline avenue, San Anselmo, and Frank Charles Nunn, 19, of 1504½ Lincoln avenue, San Rafael. The four were held in Marin County Jail on suspicion of petty theft and conspiracy to commit theft.

The thefts started last night at the home of Mrs. Laura Metz, 8 Ivy lane. Three unmounted tires were stolen from her driveway. She got the license number and called police. San Anselmo issued a radio bulletin.

About 12:25 a.m., Mrs. Helen Hayes of 110 G street, San Rafael, called police to report four youths stripping cars at the Paul N. Gardner Motors lot at 1612 Fourth street. But the thieves disappeared.

San Rafael Police Sgt. Louis Foster caught the car on Lincoln avenue about 12:30 a.m. and arrested the four.

They admitted the thefts, police said.

bulk of the aviation gas tax fund be used. It contains $30,800, with another $3,700 expected from the state this year. Last week, Law cut the request to one-half. Yesterday he was happy to settle for one-third.

Law sought county help after learning that private development plans for Richardson Bay threatened to seal off his seaplane base and put him out of business.

Among members of the audience addressing the supervisors yesterday were Herbert Hanson Jr. of Kentfield and D. K. Pischel Jr. of San Anselmo, who pleaded for a delay on the Commodore proposal until the county airport committee they head can present a "positive" airport program. They did not mention Novato Airport as a possible county site, but indicated they have a North Marin site in mind

The board agreed to hear their proposal Feb. 10 at 3 p.m.

Hanson said the approximate 50-member private group voluntarily studied sites for a county-operated airstrip "and are presently negotiating with owners of acceptable property to determine if financially feasible arrangements can be made."

advisory board. They are the chairman of the county board of supervisors (Walter R. Castro), and one judge of Marin Superior Court to be selected by the judges of the county. The three judges are N. Charles Brusatori, Thomas F. Keating and Jordan L. Martinelli.

A majority of those present last night spoke up in favor of an advisory board to look into the needs of expanded psychiatric care for Marin residents. They stressed that the advisory board will merely evaluate the local mental health needs and advise the supervisors at all stages of program planning, development and operation.

URGE CAUTION

A half dozen citizens arose to urge caution and a closer study of the Short-Doyle Act before action is taken. They said they fear state participation will take local control away from Marin, and the expense of an expanded psychiatric program may be prohibitive.

Mrs. Mary Ann Swanson, who described herself as a visitor from Los Angeles who happened to be in Marin, warned that the implementation of Short-Doyle could bankrupt the state. Without identifying herself with any specific organization, she said she is active in groups "too numerous to mention" which are interested in legislation. She said she is a Los Angeles housewife, representing no one and drawing no pay from any group.

ASKS COST FACTS

Mrs. Anne Smart of Larkspur demanded more facts on cost of the program and where it would eventually lead. Her statement that a majority of psychiatric cases stem from physical difficulties brought a murmur of dissent from the audience.

Mrs. Smart declared that many people need medical care, but "we haven't joined together to get free medical care."

Dr. Catherine Pike replied that there are no health insurance plans to cover psychiatric ailments as there are for physical ailments. "About 90 per cent of the population is indigent when it comes to psychiatric treatment," she asserted.

Several other persons said that Short-Doyle is so little known among the residents that public discussions should be held to acquaint them with the facts.

Charles F. Pendleton of Corte Madera reported the Pasadena Medical Society had rejected the Short-Doyle program 128 to 1.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer; Betty Presley, chief of the welfare department, and Walter Busher, chief of the probation office, said they think expanded psychiatric care would help the county. County Physician Rafael G. Dufficy said he favors continuing the present system of handling psychiatric care.

will be pat. I've never attended one."

Mayor Howard Sievers said he did not expect any appointment announcement prior to the next council meeting.

Councilman Marjorie B. Brady, a staunch supporter of Duerr, said "Whatever consultation is made, I want to be in on it. But the final decision is Mr. Duerr's."

Councilman Philip E. Ehrlich Jr., an attorney, commented: "The ordinance makes no requirement that Duerr consult with the council. However, he had told us previously that he felt that he wished to discuss it with us, realizing the great amount of public interest and pressure involved. I have no knowledge of the scope of his planned discussion."

Councilman John E. Koenig Jr. said, "I would assume that next Tuesday's council meeting would be the logical time for an announcement of some sort."

Girl Still 'Critical'

Maria Elena Gonzales, 4-year-old Nicasio girl who suffered a skull fracture Monday when 40 tons of hay fell from a passing truck on the station wagon in which she was riding, remained in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Taken To Hospital

Mrs. Evelyn B. Levy, 57-year-old widow of 115 Sir Francis Drake boulevard, Kentfield, was taken to Marin General Hospital about 7 a.m. today to have her stomach pumped out. Sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Levy apparently suffered from an overdose of sedatives of some kind. She was held at the hospital for observation this morning.

DUFFICY

Hospital.

Asked to comment on this today, Fusselman said, "If Dr. Dufficy was correct in his statement that he had nothing to do with that case, then he certainly couldn't be accused of malpractice."

When the patient entered Ross Hospital, Dr. John C. Siemens, who admitted her as a private patient, found her insurance appeared insufficient to cover the total hospitalization, according to Maxine L. Ferrario, hospital business manager. She said he notified the county of this.

"The county had a file on this patient," Mrs. Ferrario wrote county administrator Donald A. Jensen, "and she was found to be eligible almost immediately. For reasons unknown to the hospital, it was several days before the county physician came to see this patient. The nursing department reported this to the private physician and he kept the patient comfortable and out of danger. The patient was admitted May 27, 1958, and it was June 3, 1958, before the doctor from the county physician's office came to the hospital to see this patient."

Mrs. Ferrario's letter said the "doctor from the county physician's staff" ultimately took "full charge" of the patient until her dismissal June 19.

The insurance company paid the bulk of her hospital bill, and Ross Hospital asked the county to reimburse the $77.80 balance. The request was denied. The hospital now is appealing to the board of supervisors, which will take up the matter again next Tuesday.

A letter from Dr. Dufficy to Jensen said Dr. Siemens was advised several times "it was his private case and the county did not pick it up." But Dr. Dufficy acknowledged he had referred the case to Dr. Frank A. Lowe "as a private case."

Dr. Lowe at that time was doing county orthopedics on a fee basis, but was not on the county payroll, according to Dufficy. His letter insisted the county "was not involved in this case at any time."

Jensen has recommended denial of the hospital's appeal "on the basis that this was not an emergency and was never accepted at any time by the county as a county welfare patient, and the hospital was so informed of this fact."

and that any word would have to come from the board.

Harold A. Snyder, board president, said he was informed shortly thereafter by Adam that an agreement had been received by the district and that it appeared to be the same as was rejected before the Jan. 13 bond election.

Snyder said although the agreement had been found unsuitable before, it will be the first item of business for the board's meeting on Tuesday.

Noah said the agreement was drawn up around July, acceding to requests for revisions made by Corte Madera last March 4, April 21 and June 9.

2 Boys Held On Weapons Charge

Two Santa Rosa youths, aged 17 and 19, were arrested in West Marin on a concealed weapon charge early today by Marin sheriff's deputies who said the youths fired several shots from their car window on Highway 1.

Sgt. Sidney Weber and Deputy A. V. Menjou chased the car about three miles after hearing shots fired in the vicinity of the sheriff's substation north of Point Reyes Station.

The boys told the officers they had been trying out a revolver. The weapon was found concealed under the front seat of the car.

The 17-year-old was taken to Juvenile Hall after being booked at the county jail.

2 Factors Caused John Plant Death

The death of John R. Plant was caused by barbituate poisoning and coronary occlusion, according to an autopsy performed at the Keaton Mortuary in San Rafael.

A precise determination of which cause was primary cannot be made until results are obtained from laboratory tests, reported Coroner Frank J. Keaton.

Plant, 48-year-old resident of Kent Woodlands, was found dead Monday evening in a room of the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera. Next to his bed a bottle containing one barbituate pill was found.

His wife, Etta, said that Plant had never spoken of taking his own life. He was quoted as saying he didn't feel well enough to go home when he checked into the motel.

Plant had worked in the rubber industry and was retired. He and his wife and 14-year-old daughter, Marilyn, lived at 40 Evergreen drive, Kent Woodlands.

He is survived by them and by an older daughter, Mrs. John Chisum; his mother, Mrs. Sydney Plant, and a brother, William C. Plant, all of San Francisco.

Student Body Elects At Tomales High

Bob Marcussen, a senior from Bodega Bay, was elected president of the Tomales Union High School student body for the spring semester. He was top vote-getter in a field of four candidates.

The Poncia family of Bodega garnered the next two posts: Peter, a junior, was elected vice president, and his sister, Rose, a senior, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The two cheer-leaders were elected in the fall for a full year. They are Patsy Robertson of Bodega and Sandy Oehlschlaeger of Olema, both juniors.

New president of the Girls League is Sharon Mendoza of Pt. Reyes. Ned Mantua of Bodega Bay heads the Boys Club. Helen Bordessa of Bodega was elected president of the Girls Athletic Assn. and Paul Bianchi of Valley Ford is president of the Future Farmers of America.

Trustees Dislike Word 'Curriculum'

Mill Valley School District trustees, in a continuing study on educational philosophy, Monday night frowned on use of the word "curriculum" as having too many connotations.

The observation arose when a statement of educational purposes was introduced as a basis for discussion.

The board also declared that the phrase "academic and skill subjects" is not sufficiently definitive.

The board passed a formal resolution authorizing the May 19 $600,000 bond election and named J. Keith Thwaites as chairman of a citizen committee to promote passage of the bonds.

Petaluman To Head Area Liquor Control

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — David L. Luce, 44, a Petaluma attorney, has been appointed North Coast area administrator for the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control by Director Thomas W. Martin.

Martin said Luce will replace Gen. E. K. Wright in the job with headquarters at San Francisco. He announced reappointment of James O. Reimel, 49, as Central Valley administrator with headquarters in Sacramento.

Luce is a former chief enforcement officer for the California Athletic Commission. He is credited in many sources with helping "clean up the fight game" in California after a series of scandals a few years ago.

Novatans Protest School Gas Pump

Twenty persons, residents of Novato's Arthur and Buchanan streets, jammed into the meeting room of the Novato School Board last night to repeat demands that an incinerator and a gasoline pump be removed from their present location at Novato High School.

Robert A. Ilg of 1528 Buchanan, who told the board he was spokesman for the group, also asked that school buses be parked elsewhere than behind the homes lying adjacent to the school grounds, and that the chain-link fence which runs along the property line should be lowered from nine feet to six feet, "so that it will be no higher than our redwood fences paralleling yours."

District business manager Eugene Debrecht reported plans to plant ivy on the fence. "Within a year," he said, "that would eliminate the problem of the eyesore."

"We keep talking about the appearance of the gas pump," Ilg replied. "But what is more important is that it's a hazard. A thousand gallons of volatile material stored within 22 feet of our homes is definitely a hazard."

Allan F. Marks, who said he is a registered chemical engineer, agreed that there is the possibility of an explosion.

Board member Earl Marshall, however, asserted, "we have been told that an underground, ventilated tank such as this is no hazard."

Buchanan street resident Harold D. Major declared: "We didn't come here to smell incinerators or to look at gas pumps, or to live in danger. We are all good families and home owners, and it is not right that you subject us to these things."

Supt. William J. J. Smith replied, "If we relocate the gas pump and incinerator to your liking, it might later prove objectionable to future residents."

"There are other places on the 45-acre school grounds where they could be placed, I'm sure," said Ilg. "The school buses could be parked in front of the school behind a lavatory building there."

The residents also asked for a crackdown on high school students who "use Arthur street for a drag strip every day after school."

"At our last meeting with you," Ilg said, "we complained of this. The next day, the collie dog of one of our neighbors was killed by a hit-run driver. It could easily have been a child."

Superintendent Smith said he would ask the California Highway Patrol to tighten enforcement of the speed limit.

Board members agreed to meet Saturday morning at the high school to inspect the incinerator and gas pump and discuss possible other locations for them.

Hill School Bids Must Be Called Again

A second call for bids will be necessary on the proposed construction job at Novato's Hill School, members of the Novato School Board learned last night.

Supt. William J. J. Smith reported discussions with Ed Eoff Construction Co., which submitted the low bid but was 9 per cent above the state's allowable cost, had not resulted in any substantial alteration.

Smith did not say whether the time lag would prevent completion of construction by next fall.

The original proposal called for additions of a new music building, locker and shower rooms, an arts and crafts building, conversion of two kindergarten rooms to science rooms and alteration of 17 classrooms.

A new proposal will be ready within another week, Smith said.

Trustees last night also refused to authorize a payment of $201.78 to the Novato Sanitary District for annexation of the Lu Sutton School property after business manager Eugene Debrecht reported that the district attorney's office has informally ruled that the school district is under no legal obligation to pay.

The board members agreed to purchase a desk and other equipment for the receptionist in the district administration office, with cost estimated at $1,800.

Hub City Auto Theft Reported

Robert G. Franchini of 39 Miriele drive, Fairfax, a brother of San Anselmo Councilman William Franchini, reported his car was stolen yesterday from the parking lot behind the Home Market in San Anselmo where he and his brother are butchers. The keys had been left in the car, he told San Anselmo police.

The missing car is a 1953 Ford two-door sedan, light brown, with license number DKY 927.

Atlas Flight Successful, U.S. Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Atlas missile launched last night from Cape Canaveral flew the intended range over the Atlantic Ocean and produced most of the results desired, the Defense Department said today.

A spokesman said:

"On the basis of early telemetry the test achieved most of the Air Force objectives.

"The Atlas flew the programmed range.

"The Atlas was not programmed for full ICBM range."

It was understood the big missile traveled slightly more than 4,000 nautical miles.

The Defense Department did not explain immediately its reference to the Atlas achieving most of the objectives. However, there were reports the instruments recording the flight did not function completely. The missile was reported to have been seen reentering the atmosphere near the intended impact area.

Miller Says Noyo Project Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Clement W. Miller (D-Corte Madera) said today the Army Corps of Engineers has approved the proposed Noyo harbor project in Mendocino County.

Miller said he was informed that the corps has accepted the harbor modification program "substantially" as recommended by the district engineer in San Francisco last month.

Under the plan, the Noyo River channel would be widened and extended 400 feet upstream from the harbor to make room for a new 175-boat mooring basin.

Improvement Club Favors Fluoridation

Members of the Marina Village Improvement Club last night voted to endorse fluoridation of drinking water and reviewed town of Corte Madera plans for development of Paradise drive and construction of a levee behind Harbor drive homes.

Mrs. Robert Artegiani, secretary, said the move to endorse fluoridation came after a talk by member C. Raymond Carlsen.

Next meeting of the organization will be Feb. 24 at 108 Harbor drive.

The meeting last night at the home of Robert Gutowski was presided over by Tony C. Freitas, president.

Raise Was Important

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—When the city administration refused to grant a raise for claims investigator Frank Workman, City Law Director John Duncan cut his own salary by $200 and added it to Workman's.

Car Fire Death Was Suicide, Jury Decides

OAKLAND (AP)—Lt. Barbara R. Mitchell, a Navy nurse from Chicago whose burned body was found near her car near Livermore Jan. 15, took her own life, a coroner's jury held yesterday.

The jury reached its decision after Lt. William Duff of the Alameda County sheriff's office testified Lieutenant Mitchell, who was unmarried, was four or five months pregnant.

Duff found her thumb print on a gasoline can at the scene. He found a book of matches from Treasure Island, where she had registered, although she did not smoke and normally did not carry matches. The gasoline in the can was not the same as that in her car.

The jury concluded she poured the gasoline over herself and set herself on fire.

Transit Would Cut Smog, Says Linksy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Benjamin Linsky, control officer of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, has declared that a rapid transit system is essential if the Bay Area is to be cleared of smog.

Linsky, whose views were published in the January issue of Rapid Transit, a monthly bulletin from the five-county Bay Area Rapid Transit District, said a good transit system would take enough autos off the highways to make a "noticeable drop in air pollution and its undesirable effects."

Civic Center Design Progressing, Green Says

Design work by architect Frank Lloyd Wright on Marin County's future civic center is "progressing well," the board of supervisors was told yesterday.

Aaron Green, San Francisco architect and Wright's west coast representative, said the majority of structural, engineering, mechanical and electrical plans have been completed, while architectural plans are about 85 per cent complete.

Green's progress report covered the first two stages of the civic center project, which will cost in the neighborhood of $2,724,000 and $1,400,000, respectively.

The first stage, providing a building housing many county offices, plus the chambers of the supervisors and county planning commission, is expected to be built by 1961.

The second stage will add a third floor to the "core" building. The top floor will include a dome at one end, as well as additional county office space.

County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel yesterday gave Green and the supervisors an estimate of future space requirements of his department. He said a minimum of 5,000 square feet will be needed by 1962 and 6,400 by 1970. But to be safe, he added, it might be wise to provide the greater amount as of 1962.

Broemmel said his present staff of 51 employees is expected to increase to 58 by 1962 and 77 by 1970.

Wright's contract with the county calls for submission of working plans of the first two construction stages about July 1. Green said a review with department heads of their precise interior space needs is just beginning.

Green said Wright has changed his mind about running an escalator from the civic center entranceway to the top floor. He now believes it should run only to the first floor, where peak loads of traffic will be delivered, and wants two elevators between the first and second floors.

This plan, said Green, would give "better distribution at no more cost, and perhaps less." He said the escalator originally proposed would have cost some $200,000.

Green and County Planning Director Mary Summers also showed the supervisors a number of Wright's latest sketches of facilities to be located on the fairgrounds site adjacent to the civic center.

Some revisions in the general plan for county fair buildings have been made to meet functional requirements, Green said. One sketch showed Wright's third version of the fair pavilion, departing slightly from the original conception but still having a translucent canopy of sprayed plastic over a wire mesh network. Green said the pavilion will have a little more than three acres of roof area.

Mrs. Hartog Gets $750 A Month

Mrs. Barbara Hartog of Kent Woodlands, 35-year-old former model and cover girl, won $750 a month temporary support yesterday from wealthy Peninsula boat builder Joseph Hartog.

Charging her husband with cruel and inhuman treatment, she seeks separate maintenance. Marin Superior Court Judge Jordan L. Martinelli granted the temporary support of $750, a part of which will be used to pay off a loan on the family home at 110 Diablo drive, Kentfield.

Hartog's first wife, Carola, was the victim of an unsolved ice pick slaying in San Mateo County in 1957.

The second Mrs. Hartog married him last August. They separated Christmas Eve. Hartog lives in Hillsborough and operates the Holland Boat Works in Burlingame.

Sausalitan Gets S.F. Engineer Job

Clifford J. Geertz of Sausalito stepped into the $16,200-per-year job of San Francisco city engineer yesterday as a result of appointment of his fellow Marinite, Sherman P. Duckel, as the city's chief administrative officer.

Reuben H. Owens, who has been city engineer, was named director of public works, succeeding Duckel. Geertz, who has been chief assistant city engineer, stepped into his boss's job.

Geertz, who is 56, has been a San Francisco city employee for 33 years. His wife is a secretary at Winfield Scott School in San Francisco. Geertz's son, Clifford J. Jr., a former Woodacre resident, is an anthropologist at Stanford University.

Mr. and Mrs. Geertz have lived at 60 Prospect avenue, Sausalito, since 1945.

Duckel, who became San Francisco's chief administrative officer on resignation of Chester R. MacPhee, is a part-time resident of Black Point.

Hide-Out Convict Gets Isolation

The San Quentin Prison disciplinary committee yesterday ordered 29 days of isolation for Paul Armendarez, 23-year-old inmate found hiding outside the prison's furniture factory after a one-hour search.

Armendarez, Los Angeles County robber, explained cryptically he was fearful of inmates who, he said, had "put the pressure" on him. His absence was discovered at the 4:30 p.m. prisoner check Friday.

Armendarez is serving a one year to life sentence.

Fast Draw, But Sloppy

BURBANK (AP) — Tom Harper's fast draw career is over. Police confiscated his .22-caliber frontier pistol to hold down the bloodshed.

Reed 'Babies' Leaving Nursery For 'Adoption'

By DEEDEE ABRAMSON

Twenty-five hundred "babies," carefully nurtured for a year in the Reed Union School District, this week are being moved from their nursery into larger quarters and will be put out for "adpotion" by Tiburon Peninsula residents soon.

Is the school district raising its own future inhabitants? No, the Reed District Parent-Teachers Club is preparing for the landscaping of its four present and three future school sites.

The project to provide trees for school site landscaping was started last year by the Reed Parent-Teacher Club outdoor planning committee, headed by Mrs. Joseph Wallace of Belvedere.

Twenty-five hundred seedlings were purchased from the state nurseries and planted in a tree nursery behind Reed School. Total cost for the trees was $27.00, and $500 was spent on construction of the nursery.

Three hardy varieties were purchased to withstand their future windswept homes and to prevent soil erosion. They are Aleppo pine, Monterey pine and Douglas fir.

This week the trees, only 20 of which did not survive, are being transplanted into one-gallon cans. As soon as the project is completed they will be "adopted" by peninsula parents until they are ready for planting on the school sites next year.

"We figure we are saving the district and the parents club more than $10,000, considering five-gallon size trees retail for $3.50 to $5," Mrs. Wallace said. "The Corte Madera Recreation Center has now copied our project and the town of Corte Madera has allocated $10,000 for such a tree nursery."

Most of the trees will be planted at the Bel Aire School site when additional classrooms now under construction are completed. The committee planted trees on the site last year, but bulldozers have moved in to grade the site for expansion of the school.

"We are grateful to Ghilotti Brothers for making their bulldozers tiptoe around as many of our trees as possible and for replacing those they buried along the railroad tracks," said Mrs. Wallace.

Committee members responsible for what Mrs. Wallace calls "an economical approach to community betterment" are Mrs. Thomas Stanton, Henry Schubart, Robert Sheeks, Howard Allen and George Coleman.

In operation since 1954, the committee has spearheaded raising of over $10,000. Principal fund-raising event is the annual February Parents Club dances. This year's dance is to be held Feb. 6 starting at 9 p.m. at Bermuda Palms, with a Mardi Gras theme.

The tree nursery is not the only project of the outdoor planning committee. It is presently improving the front entrance of Reed School with tubs and brick work and completing the planting in the Reed upper classroom gardens.

Work is to start soon on the long rock wall seat with background planting scheduled for Tiburon School. The group is developing plans for the areas around Belveder and Reed schools as well as the peripheral planting around the district offices near Del Mar Estates.

Marinite Elected

Norman B. Livermore Jr. of San Rafael was elected 1959 treasurer of the Redwood Regional Conservation Council. New president of the council is R. R. Chaffee of San Francisco.

Old Stable Being Razed In Larkspur

The 60-year-old C. W. Wright livery stable on Ward street at Rice lane in Larkspur is being demolished this week to make way for future development of the Charles W. Rice family property upon which it stands.

The old two-story barn, one of several on the property, was constructed by Wright and later taken over by the Rice family. The property is now being considered for a supermarket site by the Clarewood Corp. of Berkeley.

Mrs. C. W. Rice, 82, wife of the late owner of the property, resides almost adjacent to the old structure at 7 Ward street.

She said she and her husband took over the barn about the time the old Larkspur Inn burned down, and did drayage and rental of rigs for local residents and visitors from San Francisco.

Boys Flirt With Prison Via Phony Ski Lift Cards

This is a true story which sends a chill down our spine. It involves two young boys, most likely from Marin families, and gives a terrifying insight into the thinking of what we devoutly pray is only a small percentage of our teenagers.

These two young boys came into the composing room of the Independent-Journal late one night last week. The night printers were at work, so they approached the foreman.

They wanted a few lines of type set, they explained. They had a little printing press at home and wondered if they couldn't get just these few lines put into type.

The foreman, a congenial and friendly fellow, explained that this is not usual procedure, that it must go through normal channels of any business organization. But wanting to help if he could, he asked what it was they wanted set.

The boys brought out a ticket which entitles the holder to ride the ski lift at Sugar Bowl in the High Sierras. They wanted type set to look like that, they said.

The foreman was adamant. Of course he could not set such type. And he warned the boys that they had better not try to get it done either.

The next night the same two boys came back. This time they had the wording from the ticket typed out on a piece of paper. They had attached a sample of the kind and size of type each line should be.

This time the foreman was explosively definite. We most certainly would not print anything of such a nature. Goodbye.

We actually have no information on what the boys had in mind. Perhaps it was just a gag, but this seems highly unlikely.

Possibly they had figured out that they could "save some money" for themselves and their friends by providing cards for the ski lift.

Or perhaps they planned to "make a little money" themselves by selling the fraudulent cards at a cut rate — the originals cost $5 each.

Whatever they had in mind we seriously doubt that they had any idea of the seriousness of the course they were charting. Not only were they flirting with prison terms for fraud and forgery, but they also were edging close to a federal penitentiary, because Uncle Sam collects a tax on those tickets and he too would look askance at illegal curtailment of his income.

We doubt that these two boys will find any printer who would be willing to set the type they proposed. But it worries us that they had the idea and considered it seriously enough to have gone as far as they have.

We hope they read this and reconsider.

We also hope no other youths are pondering similar get - rich - quick schemes.

The Versatile Bobby-Pin

When Mr. Bobby invented his famous pins to hold up, weight down or clamp together ladies' hair, we seriously doubt that he was aware of what a versatile tool he had developed.

In the hands of a properly qualified female technician, a bobby pin becomes, in emergencies, a screwdriver, a lock pick, a safety pin, a clothes pin, an ear dewaxer, a fingernail cleaner, a letter opener, as well as countless other unintended uses.

"Just a minute, I've got a bobby-pin," have been the saving words in many an otherwise desperate situation. We salute the ladies who have become experts with this universal tool.

When Gals Start Smoking Cigars They'll Start Running The World

NEW YORK (AP) — How can life be made better for all in this woman's world we now dwell in?

Well, here's an idea for a starter: Why not encourage the ladies to take up cigar smoking?

In an era in which more and more value is placed on togetherness, the cigar remains one of the few symbols of apartness.

Women today talk like men, work like men, dress like men and drink like men. But very few — in this country anyway — have learned to smoke like men.

So far, in their invasion of former masculine prerogatives, the cigar has defeated them. Stick a cigar in the average woman's kisser, and she doesn't know what to do with it.

But it is doubtful if fair womanhood will ever make a real success of the equal rights movement until the ladies master the art of striking a kitchen match on the bottom of their slacks and lighting up a cigar in confident ease.

Why don't more women take up cigar smoking? Well, not for the reasons they give. They say cigars are dirty and nasty, and smell up the draperies. They say cigars taste bad — a slander if ever there was one.

Many women with a connoisseur's palate for the finer joys of life have discovered this. They range from "Poker Alice," the lady gambler of the Western frontier, to poetess Amy Lowell, who was the very spirit of New England.

But you will note one pertinent thing about these ladies — they were talented, strong-minded, decisive women. Herein may lie the real key to the mystery of why so many women avoid cigars, or openly attack them.

AT THE RISK of alienating the unenlightened addicts of other forms of nicotine, I'd like to point out the basic superiority of the cigar smoker over both the cigarette and the pipe smoker.

Your typical cigarette smoker is often nervous and indecisive. Your typical pipe man is a life-beaten philosopher sending up smoke signals of futility.

But your typical cigar smoker is an expansive, aggressive, forceful optimist — a man of action, forthright and decisive.

THE MAN who smokes cigars is a man who can make up his mind. This, I submit, is why so few women today smoke cigars. They aren't the kind of people who really like to make up their mind.

And mark my word now—the day American women stop kidding around and really shoulder the responsibility of running the country will be the day after they all bite the end off a stogie, clamp it in their jaws and order the nearest male, "Light me, little man!"

Long-Lived Light

MORRISTOWN, N. J. (UPI) — A new exit marker has been developed for aircraft which can provide uninterrupted light for up to 25 years—without an external power source.

The new markers, according to the U.S. Radium Corp., are made of glass tubes which are coated internally with a special phosphor and filled with tritium.

The tritium excites the phosphor, which then emits light. The best of the markers, according to the firm, are visible at 100 feet or more in the dark.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Local Hospital Unlike Magazine's

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Articles such as Look Magazine has recently published on hospitals are written, I suppose, because they are sensational and will help to sell the magazine, as indeed they do. I was working in a hospital gift shop the day the magazine came in and it sold like the proverbial hot cakes.

Generalizations are always bad and, in this case, they are more than just bad, they are evil, because of what they can do to the minds of the sick, who must stay in hospitals and to those of their anxious relatives who must leave them there.

If Look Magazine wants to call a spade a spade, let it come out and say, "We mean this spade, or that spade." Of course, there are such things as libel laws to contend with.

One of the members of my own family has recently returned from his second stay in San Rafael General Hospital within a three month period. We asked to go there the second time, because we were so impressed with the treatment during our first stay. Words are inadequate to describe the devotion to duty on the part of the nurses, the aides, and the orderlies. We received the kind of care that money can't pay for — the kind of care that only those who love their work and who realize that nursing is not just another job, but a truly dedicated profession, can only give the sick. We have words of praise for the kitchen staff, too. The food was always delicious and the trays attractively served.

Just one word to Look Magazine and the people it managed to frighten. It's a good feeling to walk out the door of a hospital at night, where you have left a sick relative and to know that he is in capable and efficient hands, but it's a much, much better feeling to know that he is in warm and friendly hands. That's the feeling I had as I left San Rafael General Hospital each night recently. Love and bouquets to all who serve there.

Nike Sites Make Marin Less Safe

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I see in the papers that Marin County is going to have three separate Nike-Hercules launching sites: Fort Barry, Fort Cronkite and San Rafael. (S.F. Chron. Jan. 21) This, I suppose, should make all of us Marinites feel triple-safe. We can keep bolstering our courage with the Davy Crockett words of the battalion commander at Fort Barry: "This missile can outspeed, outclimb and outfly any plane in the world."

But I am still left with some apprehensions which perhaps you could help to clear up:

1. Since the Nike-Hercules has a range of only 75 miles, and since it can't stop missiles how is it going to protect us? The U.S. has missile-launching bombers which are effective 1000 miles from the target. What makes us think any enemy planes would need to venture as close as 75 miles?

2. Since the Nike-Hercules would destroy these enemy planes by an atomic explosion — just a few miles off our coast — wouldn't all that radioactive fallout be blown right back on Marin County by the prevailing winds?

3. Since the nuclear warheads "will be stored in areas immediately adjacent to the operational units," does this not constitute a danger to the people of Marin County?

Since we are going to be "protected" by three atomic warhead storage places, our county would be a very strategic target. Also, a big accident or a small bit of sabotage could release enough atomic radiation to kill or injure us all. In my judgment, Marin County is not made safer, but is only endangered by the presence of the Nike-Hercules sites. What do you think?

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Something should be done toward developing a professional art center here, Alyn Strettor, well-known San Diego artist, said as she arrived in Mill Valley, where she was showing a group of paintings and mosaics.

Measles reached its highest incidence in the history of Marin with 57 cases reported within the week, Dr. Irving D. Johnson, county health officer, announced.

San Rafael business leaders and officials decided to realign D street (Wolfe grade) to eliminate the worst curves, starting in the fall.

20 YEARS AGO

The Culpepper Real Estate Co. building on Magnolia avenue in Larkspur was moved from the Windt property to make way for a service station.

Marin Dell Milk Co. leased the Meadowsweet dairy ranch near San Rafael and announced plans to develop it as a model and showplace of the Northbay.

Hotel Rafael property, scene of many society gatherings in the gay '90s, was made available for possible subdivision as residential property by foreclosure sale by the American Trust Co.

"When you think you're going down for the third time — just remember: you may have counted wrong."

"Build a better mousetrap and maybe the only result will be that you'll catch a higher type of mice."

"If you've waked up in the morning feeling groggy and listless, just remember you're ahead of the game if you wake up at all!"

A tramp knocked warily on the door of a moderately large residence, and bowed meekly when a powerful lady answered the summons. "Sure and what does a miserable runt like you be comin' round to bother me about?" she demanded with an obvious Harvard accent.

"If you'd be so kind," said the tramp humbly, exhibiting a small object in the palm of his hand, "I'd like to get a coat sewed on to this button."

Center Road Children Enroute To School Face Traffic Hazard

The problem of protecting children on their way to school from the dangers of heavy traffic along Novato's narrow Center Road next fall is not going to be simple — according to Marvin W. Brigham, county public works director.

Brigham, speaking before a group of Center Road property owners last week at West Novato School, emphasized that neither turning Center Road into a one-way street, nor reducing the speed limit, would eliminate the inherent danger of a narrow road without sidewalks.

"It's all a matter of sight-distance and speed," he said. "There is no instance in Marin County that I know of where a car has gone off the road and struck a child. Most often children are hurt, he said, "when they dash into the paths of cars. Children act on impulse."

And a reduction of speed on the road is not the answer, either, he warned. "More children have been hit when cars were doing 15 to 20 miles an hour than at higher speeds."

TAKE IT FROM Joseph Gargiulo, faculty chairman of student activities at Novato High student-body elections are a great deal more than mere popularity contests.

First of all, an office seeker must have at least a "C" average and must pass the school constitution test. He further needs the approval of the student-faculty committee. A "bad citizenship" record at school rules him out as a candidate.

And, then, before a student's name can appear on the ballot, he needs 50 signatures from fellow classmates recommending him for the job.

FEW OF US, eager as we may be to resolve the world's difficulties, actually ever get around to doing much about it. We'll leave it to Mr. Dulles and the diplomats.

But not so Novato mail clerk Bill Walker. He thinks he has a solution, and is doing something about it. Communication is the problem, he'll tell you. If everyone could understand the other fellow's language, peace might reign, he maintains.

So Bill is offering a class in Esperanto, the "International Language," which he picked up without formal training, in hopes that someday the idea might catch fire and international tension subside.

The language has been around for some time, according to a brochure Bill showed us. Bing Crosby, in case you didn't notice, warbled some of it in "The Road To Singapore."

NOVATO HIGH School coed Dannelle Smith may have stumbled onto a rare find last week.

While walking along Arthur Street near Buchanan, she espied a bundle of checks lying in the gutter. When she turned them over to school principal Robert McKeay, wheels started turning.

The wad of checks all were made out to the Henry Hess Lumber Co., which last year lost a sum in both cash and checks to burglars.

The find was turned over to the county sheriff's office, which presumably is now attempting to differentiate between Dannelle's finger prints and those of the alleged burglar.

Governor's Water Program Sounds Better On Paper Than In Practice

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown's "water program," as submitted to the California Legislature in a special message, brought forth little approbation from the people who really know California's water situation and really know the problems that confront the state in proceeding with an orderly program.

The governor, it seems, had little more to offer the state than what has been presented previously. It is known that the state Department of Water Resources, headed by Harvey Banks, a hold-over from the Knight administration, developed the special water message the governor handed the Legislature, and that, coming from the department, there would be little, if any changes or new suggestions.

BROWN SAID he felt the water problem could be attacked without the necessity of submitting a constitutional amendment to the people of the state, which would in effect guarantee some specific rights to both northern and southern California.

This attitude, many legislators and representatives felt, is merely ducking the ultimate issue, and from the current standpoint, would be wholly unacceptable to southern California legislators, upon whom Brown must depend to get his suggested program in operation.

THE GOVERNOR suggests using little more than a third of the state's funds derived from oil royalty revenues. This money never has been actually allocated to water conservation, but the theory among many legislators has been that it accrued to the state from the depletion of a natural resource, and therefore should be returned into conservation programs for development of such resources. He asked for $38 million for development of water conservation projects. This, incidentally, is the same amount that was asked by the previous administration.

The governor also suggested a $500 million bond issue in 1960 to complete the program as outlined in his message.

HE SAID HE "pledges" that he would fight to complete the Southern Aqueduct, which would transfer water from Northern to Southern California, and "pledges" that he would fight to obtain adequate financing to provide the other facilities throughout the state.

Some Southern California legislators are wondering if the governor's "pledges" are as good as a constitutional amendment in guaranteeing them eventually some water from the north, and also what effect the "pledges" might have in securing financing of the great works proposed to transfer water.

THEY POINT OUT that while the governor might work as hard as possible for his program, it still takes a majority to pass it through the assembly, which southern legislators control.

Thus, the governor's special water message sounds fine on paper, but fundamentally, it does not go as far even as the work that has been done by the legislative interim committee in protecting the interests of the state as a whole.

Stengel Blasts Mantle As 'Greatest Disappointment'

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mickey Mantle, the man the New York Yankees expected to be the "New DiMaggio," obviously was a step deeper in Casey Stengel's doghouse today as result of his salary holdout.

Mantle reportedly receives from $70,000 to $75,000. He is believed to be asking for $90,000.

Stengel believes Mantle could earn $125,000 but adds "He has kept himself from earning it."

The Mick obviously was one of Stengel's main targets as the gnarled Yankee skipper announced a new get tough policy in which laggards will be fined and those who fracture training rules "had better be able to tell midnight from noon" on the threat of being hit in the rear bumper by a moving van. In other words, those who don't put out 100 per cent may be traded. This could include Mantle.

Mantle is a man of great baseball talents. But he has not become either "the new" DiMaggio or a fairly acceptable facsimile of the old one. Last season he drew official wrath when he missed the train on a western trip. Stengel has made a point of his fielding deficiencies and said, on signing his current managerial contract, that Mantle was his "greatest disappointment."

Mantle is inclined to be sulky and petulant. Thus you can draw your own conclusions when Stengel says:

"I wouldn't want a dissatisfied player. If he doesn't have a 100 per cent feeling, I would have to say we are open for deals. Nobody has a good year every year. Mantle led in three departments. He could have led in five, for he has the points to do it."

Thus when Stengel launches into a tirade against those who don't run out every ball, and against violators of the Yankees' unofficial curfew, most of the signs point in Mantle's direction. He also is irritated, in a more minor vein, against Whitey Ford.

"The rules will be more strict this year," Stengel says as he looks forward to the season. "They're gonna have to hustle or they'll be fined. And they better obey the training rules. Anybody who thinks he's bigger than the ball club might find himself traded."

Stengel, under all his ramblings, is concerned with those who stay out too late at night and it can be added that Mantle is not one of those with a reputation for being "healthy, wealthy and wise."

"You know who's out at night," Stengel barks when asked to name names. "They have 'em on every ball club. We do, too. I've been accused of being too easy. Well, the manager is responsible for his men getting in at night. Ours are going to do just that.

"The ball club shouldn't be robbed because some guy is tired or is doing three or four other things that he shouldn't be doing," Stengel added brusquely. "Any man who is too tired to run 90 feet will get fined on this club. Then, if that doesn't work, I'll have to change my mind and get rid of two or three players I don't want to get rid of."

In other words, the Yanks can expect to put out—or get out.

Even Mantle is no exception.

GIANTS ARE HAPPY

S.F. Ducats Going At A Record Clip

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The ruckus on the Spanish Main involving certain San Francisco Giants hasn't hurt—or even much disturbed—the home fire in Seals Stadium.

From his concrete-protected quarters in the stadium (home for the Giants until mid-summer), ticket manager Peter Hoffman reports business booming as never before.

The trouble in Puerto Rico, where they played winter baseball, had to do with Orlando Cepeda, Willie Kirkland and Leon Wagner—all fined for various alleged infractions. Kirkland and Wagner were accused of leaving the winter circuit ahead of time. Cepeda was fined for throwing a baseball into the stands after a shower of pop bottles, oranges and other articles.

But Hoffman is so busy selling tickets that the headlines from the Caribbean all seem beside the point.

"We were amazed by our sale of season tickets last year—but we're topping it by 25 per cent this time," he said.

Hoffman estimates there will be well over a million dollars in the till before the Giants' opener April 14.

WHO'S AFRAID?

"I'm afraid the opener will be a sellout on season tickets alone," he added. "Afraid! Did I say afraid? Heck, I like it..."

The reservations are extending only through June. The Giants, former habituees of the Polo Grounds in New York, hope to move into their new stadium at Candlestick Point in July.

"Once we know for sure when the move can be made, we'll complete the orders," Hoffman concluded, gleefully.

The new stadium will seat 45,000. Seals Stadium's seating is 22,500.

GAELS' GARDERE IS INELIGIBLE

MORAGA (AP) — Joe Gardere, sparkplug guard of St. Mary's Gaels, is out for the rest of the basketball season because of poor grades, Coach Jim Weaver announced yesterday.

Gardere, a 5-foot-9 sophomore, averaged 8.4 points in 13 games, connecting on 42 per cent of his shots from the field and gathering in 56 rebounds for the West Coast Athletic Conference pace setters.

Bobby Dodd, whom Gardere replaced, is expected to return to the starting five.

LaCour Back, Dons Battle Seattle

The University of San Francisco Dons take on the Seattle Chieftains tonight in the northwest as star forward Fred Lacour makes his first appearance of the campaign.

Lacour, who regained eligibility Monday after being sidelined because of scholastic difficulties, was expected to give the Dons a needed boost in the scoring department, although not enough to offset the high-scoring Seattle attack. He was the squad's second leading scorer last year with 336 points in 27 games, a 12.4 average.

The Dons have dropped 10 of 14 games. Seattle has a 14-4 mark going into tonight's clash.

St. Raphael's Sweeps Wins Over St. Rita's Hoopsters

St. Rita's of Fairfax threw up its best defensive curtain against St. Raphael's in CYO basketball games last weekend, but succumbed by 26-22 and 15-13 scores in 80 and 100-pound tilts. Both games were played at Fairfax Pavilion.

A fourth quarter closing spurt led by Roger Tobin, who totalled 6 points, fell short as Jim Snodgrass and Bob Trumbly had collaborated earlier to tally 16 points for St. Raphael's 80's. The Fairfax boys were considered a stout threat to upset St. Raphael's after their recent improved play, but an inept offense in the first quarter proved their undoing.

In the 100's game, two fast buckets by O'Connell and Fitzpatrick in the final moments almost caught St. Raphael's. But the latter cleared the boards and maintained ball control in the last thrilling seconds. Rory Riley and Mike Bedecarrax topped the local's scoring in this hot defensive battle.

St. Raphael's swept to an easy 27-10 win over St. Rita's 70's and thereby, with the 100's, cinched their divisional titles in Marin play.

A hustling band of St. Patrick's 120's from Larkspur edged St. Vincent's 40-38 for their third straight "cliff hanging" victory and thus went into a league tie with St. Raphael's. No more than two points separated the teams after the opening minutes and a missed foul shot and rimmed layup at game's end were all that prevented a St. Vincent's victory. Ricky Bascoe with 13 points and Gary Malvino's sensational playmaking were deciding factors for St. Pat's. But Rich Braun of St. Vincent's was high marksman with 15 points.

Other scores: St. Vincent 23, St. Patrick 12 (70's); St. Raphael 43, St. Rita 23 (90's); St. Vincent 32, St. Patrick 18 (100's).

Venturi 2nd Behind Wall At Eldorado

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP)—Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., could thank a strong finish today for his title in the $7,500 Eldorado Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament.

Wall birdied four of the last five holes to pocket first money of $750 with a 36-hole total of 137 yesterday. This was seven under par.

Ken Venturi, Palo Alto, wound up five strokes behind Wall, tied with Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., at 142.

The best-ball division was won by pro Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N.Y., and amateur partners Don Pegler, Lincoln, Nebr., Dick Snideman, Chicago, and Harry Dodson, Los Angeles, with a net 36-hole score of 56-61—117.

S.Q. Guards Upset Tigers In Men's Basketball League

San Quentin Guards and the Village Inn won their games in the "C" Division of the San Rafael Recreation and Parks Department's Men's Basketball League Monday night at San Rafael High School.

The Guards upset the first place Marin Tigers, 35-34 in a thriller. Al McNaulty led the Guards attack with 12 points. Bob DeRosa was high man for the Tigers with 13 points.

In another close game the Village Inn defeated the 14th Marines 37-34. Tom Hubbart scored 18 points to pace the Village Inn, while Bob Anderson was high point man for the Marines with 16 markers.

Edwards Hero As Tam Edges Santa Rosa '5'

The ball is finally bouncing in the right direction for Coach Jim Hanretty's Tamalpais Indians.

Although they lost some heart-breaking decisions in the final seconds of early season games, the Tamites finally did some victorious cliff-hanging of their own yesterday by ekeing out a 44-43 edge over the Santa Rosa Panthers at Santa Rosa in North Bay League action.

With only 15 seconds to play and Tam holding a 42-41 edge, Hanretty thought hard luck hit again when a fouled Santa Rosa player connected on two free throws to put the Panthers ahead at 43-42. Then Dame Fortune reared her beautiful head and nodded in Tam's direction when a Santa Rosa player bumped into Tam junior guard Ray Edwards. Although pressure was tremendous, Edwards calmly swished both charities through the mesh—with four seconds left to play—and Tam had its third NBL victory against as many defeats.

Hanretty praised his squad for one of its best games of the season. He singled out Charley Fisher, Bill Buffalow and Edwards for their rebounding work and John Cleaveland for a fine floor game. Fisher led the scoring with 11 markers, mostly on drive-ins through Santa Rosa's man-for-man defense.

Tam connected with 40 per cent of its floor shots.

Santa Rosa won the Class B preliminary game, 36-27.

Joey, Tiger Clash On TV

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Joey Giardello, realizing that three misses and you're out in almost any game, takes on Ralph (Tiger) Jones tonight in a televised bout that he must win to hold his place among the ranking middleweights.

Although currently ranked No. 4 in his weight division, the Brooklyn puncher has lost his last two times out, to Joey Giambra last June and to Spider Webb on a TKO last Nov. 19 when an eye cut halted the proceedings.

Meeting Jones will be no novelty for Giardello, who already holds a pair of decision in previous matches between the two. Joey whipped the Yonkers, N. Y., fighter in 1954 and again on Dec. 27, 1957.

Giardello has won 67, lost 15 and drawn 5. He has scored 28 knockouts. Jones has 12 knockouts and a 46-24-4 record.

Fight time is 7 p.m., PST.

Stover caught 10 passes for 144 yards for Oregon against Ohio State in the 1958 Rose Bowl game.

He lives at Vallejo, Calif.

Drake Knocks Redwood Out Of North Bay Lead, 60 To 39

By GLENN BECKER

Drake High knocked Redwood out of first place in the North Bay League Section I basketball race yesterday by routing the Giants, 60-30.

The afternoon game was played before a near capacity crowd on the Drake court.

Redwood was never in contention as Drake raced to a first quarter lead of 13-4 and upped this to 34-14 at the half. Dick Llewellyn, the diminutive guard, and 6-foot-7 Daryl Sattui, led the Pirates on this first half rampage. Llewellyn, who is making a strong bid for All-League recognition with 37 points in his last two games, tallied 12 of his 18 points yesterday in the first half while Sattui contributed 11 of his 16 to the early spurt.

BREAR TANKS 10

Redwood's top scorer was sophomore center Rich Brear, with 10 points. He also played a fine game on the boards and was one of the few bright stars in the Redwood sky. The Giants' next high scorer was guard Dick Riede with 8 points, including three straight jump shots in the second period.

A big factor in the outcome of the game was the aggressive rebounding of Drake. Often four Pirates would go up for the ball and Redwood usually got but one shot at the bucket. Besides Sattui, Dick Spackman and Dan Giles were strong rebounders for Drake.

When reminded that Tam beat Drake, Redwood beat Tam, and now his team whipped Redwood, Drake Coach Bob Fitzhenry said "You can't compare the scores this season for any team in the league is capable of knocking off any other club." He added that, "This was our best game."

SAN RAFAEL NEXT

Redwood Coach Dick Hart concurred, explaining that he holds no stock with comparative scores. He added that the Giants will now point for league-leading San Rafael Friday night at San Rafael.

Redwood will go against the Bulldogs in second place with a 4-2 record, one game behind San Rafael and Vallejo.

Drake will take a 3-3 record into Friday's game at Santa Rosa.

In yesterday's preliminary game Jim Kilpatrick's 18 points sparked Redwood's B team to a 38-29 conquest of the Drake B's. Bruce Feldmeyer and Gary Jones each had 7 points for Drake.

Dodger Stadium May Not Be Ready For 1960 Season

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Legal entanglements, Walter O'Malley admits, may prevent his Dodgers from playing baseball in Chavez Ravine next year.

O'Malley told a press conference yesterday it is doubtful if the new stadium can be completed for the 1960 season. Two weeks ago, when the State Supreme Court upheld the O'Malley-City of Los Angeles contract, the Dodger boss said he planned to have work started on the stadium within 30 days.

But the Dodger opposition says it is appealing to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Emil Praeger of New York, who is designing the new Dodger stadium, said if the team is to play there in 1960, construction would have to start shortly.

Napa Tops San Rafael, But Loses By Forfeit

Although they connected on 54 per cent of their floor shots, the San Rafael Bulldogs went down to a 48-58 defeat at the hands of the Napa Indians yesterday at Napa.

San Rafael connected on 19 of 35 field goal attempts—a much better percentage than Napa's 18 for 51—but the hosts capitalized on the foul line, scoring 22 charities as San Rafael committed 23 fouls.

Although the loss snapped a five-game San Rafael victory streak, the game goes into the North Bay League standings as a win for the Bulldogs as Napa must forfeit all NBL games. Thus, the Bulldogs retained their first place tie with Vallejo in the NBL race with a 5-1 record.

Napa, with a height advantage of about three inches per man, dominated the backboards, picking off 35 rebounds to San Rafael's 22. In spite of that edge, however, the Bulldogs were right in contention up to the final two minutes when they trailed by only three points. Then Napa pulled away with six foul shots and two buckets as the clock ran out.

Bill Robertson, the Indians' big center, tallied 9 shots from the foul line along with 8 field goals to roll up 25 points while forwards Marshall Jaeger and John Rawlins each contributed 14 to the winning cause.

Terry Tevis, turning in his best effort of the season, topped San Rafael with 15 points while steady Brent Marshall came through with 13 and John Blomquist had 10. Ron Snidow did a majority of the Bulldogs' rebounding.

Napa's tall junior varsity rolled up a 50-24 win over the San Rafael Class B team.

San Rafael hosts Redwood Friday night in a crucial NBL game.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Giants Don't Look Any Better Now Than They Did At '58 Start

CONNOLLY

It was away back in 1919 that a pretty housewife said to her sports-writing hubby, "This newspaper racket is the one thing I can't help you with. If it's history you need help on I'll go along with you. I'll say that Alexander the Great was only a politician; that the pyramids are but pillars of salt; the hanging gardens of Babylon were only places where they hanged criminals in the days before civilization gave us the chair and the gas chamber, etc., etc., etc."

Well, if you believe what is related above, then you may well believe that the San Francisco Giants, so far, do not constitute the most formidable ball club in the 1959 National League pennant scramble.

Strictly on form the Giants are not any better now than they were at the beginning of the 1958 season.

The Giants are faced with so many problems it isn't even funny. To begin with they have a rookie shortstop; and unsettled or untried, for any length of time, second sacker; a third sacker who may, or may not, develop; and a first sacker who performed sensationally in his freshman year, but gawd knows what he might do in his sophomore year.

ADD TO THAT the fact that a rookie catcher, one of the best in the loop last year, falls heir to a regular starting berth and you get some idea of what I mean by saying the Giants of 1959 are not a "cinch" to be rated a pennant contending aggregation.

Sure there could be astounding upsets. Cepeda could come back a greater player than he was in 1958; Spencer could make the club a great second sacker; Rogers might be another Honus Wagner; Jimmy Davenport at third and Bob Schmidt behind the bat likewise might toddle along as the greatest youngsters of the era.

But let's not go overboard on the club as it now stands. We know positively that Bill Rigney will have a hustling, fighting ball club. But we do not know if they are sufficiently matured to withstand the rigors of a hot pennant fight.

Willie Mays, Jackie Brandt and Willie Kirkland as an outfield could do wonders but it "aint" another Hooper, Lewis, Speaker combine.

AND THE PITCHING staff where 90 per cent of the big if centers isn't a 6 to 5 shot by any stretch of the imagination. I like to see guys like Worthington, McCormick, Griel, Monzant and Stu Miller go to town and they might, but can guys like Antonelli, Sanford, et al wrap up 20 games apiece?

Owner Horace Stoneham is a first rate gambler. And he likes to make and spend money. But he will not spend money foolishly and that is the reason why he'd rather go along with young prospects than with oldtimers on their way out. And he might be 100 per cent right.

Baseball attendance in San Francisco the past year proved the town, and the area, is and never will be, weened away from the sport. But the fans can't be expected to go along on promises alone. They want some semblance of a flag contending ball club, and not one where the unexpected has to happen every day to win.

The Giants finished in third place in 1958, and had they resorted to the bunt, early in the season, they might have snatched 10 or 12 more games.

This year, I hope, regardless of the makeup of the club, they will at least go for the bunt as a safe means of scoring runs, even if it's one run at a time.

Poor Aunt Susie's On Another Diet

AUNT SUSIE RESOLVES
By FRANCES DAHL
Nutritionist, Marin County Health Department

Aunt Susie is on another diet! This announcement is greeted with groans of despair from the various members of the family, for this is nothing new to us. Aunt Susie's diet is an annual affair in our house, as sure to come as spring cleaning. It always happens about this time of year. Dear auntie loves the holiday season with the festive meals, the Christmas cookies, the calorie-laden egg nogs, and the midnight snacks. After the New Year arrives, Aunt Susie gives a screech as she looks at the scales and declares that this year for sure she will lose those 50 pounds that are giving her so much trouble.

Of course, we all know that she would have more pep and would certainly look better without the excess baggage, but we also know that those 50 pounds will still be with her in 1960. She just won't be sensible about this business of reducing.

'BUT NOT TODAY'

First comes the decision as to when to start the diet—"Certainly not today with the lovely meringue pie out in the kitchen; and aren't we going shopping on Friday?" (When we shop in the city, we always have luncheon at the pastry shop where they have those wonderful chocolate eclairs.)

Why won't Aunt Susie realize that to reduce she must change her food habits, perhaps forever, and the best time to start is right now. There will always be temptations, but unless she learns to live with them she will never have that slim figure she dreams about.

Before she starts on her diet, she will call all her friends to find out what kind of new diet they have tried lately. We have watched her struggle through every fad diet invented. The latest ones were the "Rockefeller diet" and the "Mayo Clinic diet." She says they must be good because they carry names of authority, but we found out from a reliable source that these highly respected institutions would never approve of these diets for reducing purposes.

We know from past experience what the outcome will be. Aunt Susie will pick out some crazy fad diet and will stick to it for about two weeks — looking like a martyr as she eats her lettuce leaf while the rest of us enjoy a good meal of meat, vegetables, fruit, and milk.

GRRR-R-R-R-R!

One thing we love about Auntie is her gay sweet disposition, but that will disappear after a few days on her new diet. She will probably feel terrible and look worse. After a couple weeks, she will be too tired to take that daily walk that she usually enjoys. Poor Aunt Susie, the biggest disappointment is still to come. She will lose a few pounds the first week, but then there will be several days when she won't lose an ounce.

The disappointment is so great that after a few days she announces, "See, I'm not losing a thing. I was just born to be fat." The diet will then be over—at least for another year.

The family rejoices at this point, not only because Susie is her gay old self again, but because we worry about her health when she tries to lose weight so fast. Just to be sure of our facts, we checked with our family doctor and we were right. He said that it is dangerous to lose weight in a hurry. The human body cannot adjust easily to quick changes. The skin wrinkles, the internal organs may sag and cause trouble, and the body is drained of vitality (don't we know it — Aunt Susie was really dragging!) He also said that fluctuations in weight, like losing 15 pounds then gaining 20, put a great strain on the heart. The only safe way to reduce is to lose weight gradually.

THE PLATEAU

The doctor also explained why Susie goes several days without losing a pound. It seems that it takes a few days for the fat in the tissues to break down. This period is called a plateau because the weight remains at the same level. Though it is discouraging at the time, the plateau is usually followed by a rapid drop in weight.

We learned something else from our doctor. A good reducing diet is nothing more than our regular balanced diet but lower in calories. With this news, the family got together and decided to pull a fast one on Aunt Susie. We will put her on a good reducing diet right here at our family table. We can all stand to be trimmed down a bit, so we will plan our meals and cook our foods just a little differently. We can still have our meat, potatoes, and vegetables, but we don't need that gravy or extra butter for seasoning.

We can eat our salads with lemon juice or some of those good low caloric dressings instead of mayonnaise. We can still have the usual fruit, eggs, toast and coffee for breakfast and a sandwich for lunch. The one big difference in our meals will be the use of fruit for desserts rather than pastries or puddings. The children in the family can have second helpings, but we grown-ups won't, and we won't eat between meals either. If we really can't get to sleep without that bedtime snack, we can have a glass of tomato juice or buttermilk or fresh fruit. It sounds easy, doesn't it, and not too dull, either!

If we can get Aunt Susie to lose only one pound a week, she will be 25 pounds lighter by summer vacation. In fact, we're all going to look better in our bathing suits come next July.

Nesselrode Icing

Equal parts ground raisins and pecans mixed with sour cream and softened cream cheese make a delicious frosting for devils food cake. It's a quick and easy way to dress up cake made from a packaged mix.

Spanish Approach To Scrambled Eggs

In Spain they serve a Barcelona Sandwich, an omelet-on-toast reminiscent of our popular Western sandwich, but with added tuna fish. To make four sandwiches, heat 2 tablespoons of Spanish olive oil in a large heavy skillet. Meantime, beat 4 eggs until frothy, add contents of a 7-ounce can of tuna fish, well-drained, about ¼ cup each chopped green pepper and chopped onion, ¼ teaspoon salt and a dash of pepper. Pour egg mixture into hot oil in skillet, cook over low heat until set, turning once or twice with spatula. Divide omelet into 4 portions, serve each on toast which has been spread with mayonnaise. If preferred, the individual portions of omelet may each be served between two slices of toast.

BAYOU BAKE—Two Southern favorites, ham and yams, come to table in easy ways. The yams may be done two ways—from the can or from the shell. It all depends on your time and budget.

All You Do Is Add Seasoning To Mashed Yams And Bake!

Simple and uncomplicated! This is the desired formula for family meals during low-mercury days. Louisiana yams, fresh now, require so little preparation and can be varied in any number of ways. By adding simple flavorings and spice to yams, the bland flavor is enhanced giving your entire supper menu new appeal.

This is a good season for ham as well as yams. Louisiana yams are moist, smooth-textured and sweet-tasting, making them perfectly companionable with savory ham. The Louisiana Yam Commission has seen to it that plenty of good-flavored yam recipes are ready for use during this plentiful season. Don't forget the generous supply of vitamin A in Louisiana yams when it comes to planning future supper menus.

LOUISIANA BAYOU YAM BAKE
(Makes 4 servings)
- ½ cup heavy cream
- ¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 4 medium-sized Louisiana yams, cooked, peeled and mashed, or 1 can (1-pound) Louisiana yams, drained and mashed
- ⅓ cup chopped chives

Add cream, butter or margarine, salt and pepper to yams, blend well. Stir in chives. Turn into lightly greased 1-quart casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 30 minutes.

Broccoli Espagnol

Cooked broccoli makes a colorful salad or first course when dressed with a mixture of 3 tablespoons Spanish olive oil, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 crushed or minced garlic clove, ¼ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Broccoli should be cooked until barely tender, still a little crisp. Serve topped with sieved egg yolk and strips of pimiento.

Avocado Bonanza

Avocados are so plentiful and reasonably priced this month. Avocado half shells filled with hot creamed chicken or spicy shrimp creole are hard to beat. Use this delicious fruit in salads, soups, appetizers, sandwiches, for garnishing and in countless other ways while the crop is abundant.

Think Cranberry Time's Over? Well Just Read These Recipes

A blend of cream cheese, horseradish and jellied cranberry sauce whips up into the smoothest, tastiest treat you'll ever imagine. It's perfect stuffed inside chilled and washed pieces of celery. Good, too, as a spread for crackers.

Cranberry stuffed celery along with hard cooked eggs and green olives belongs with fish. Frozen filets, fish sticks, fresh fish or canned fish in casseroles make cooking easy and taste so good. You'll like the tart flavor that canned cranberry sauce lends to a fish menu.

Frozen Filets of Flounder
Cranberry Stuffed Celery
Hard-Cooked Egg Slices
Vegetables, Skillet Style
Chocolate Pudding with Whipped Cream
Milk Coffee

CRANBERRY STUFFED CELERY
- 1 (8-oz.) package cream cheese, softened
- 2 tablespoons extra hot horseradish
- ½ (1-lb.) can jellied cranberry sauce

Beat softened cream cheese until smooth. Beat in horseradish and jellied cranberry sauce until thoroughly blended. Chill thoroughly. Fill washed and chilled celery pieces. Makes 1½ cups.

Note: Use, too, as spread for crackers. Top with tiny cutouts of jellied cranberry sauce.

If you like a barbecue sauce to serve on fish or spareribs, try this cranberry combination.

CRANBERRY SAUCE PIQUANT
- 1 can (1-lb.) jellied cranberry sauce
- ¼ cup finely diced onion
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt

Beat cranberry sauce with rotary beater until smooth. Stir in remaining ingredients. Simmer 5 minutes. Keep hot and serve over broiled or baked fish. Makes 2 cups.

It's cranberry juice cocktail time. Time to blend cranberry juice with spices to make this unusual syrup to pour over fresh fruit cup or canned fruit at dessert time. Such a pretty color, too.

SPICED CRANBERRY SYRUP
- 1 pint cranberry juice cocktail
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 stick cinnamon
- Several whole cloves
- 2 lemon slices

Mix ingredients together in saucepan. Bring to a boil, and simmer 5 minutes. Chill. Remove cinnamon, cloves and lemon. Spoon over fresh fruit cup or canned fruits at serving time.

SOMETHING SUPERB — If this were in color, you'd wonder why the celery stuffing is pink. Because there's cranberry sauce in it, that's why. Just one of dozens of ways to carry cranberry around the calendar.

Pineapple, Ham Stuffed In Yams

- 6 medium-sized Louisiana yams
- 1½ cups chopped cooked ham
- 1 can (8¾-ounces) pineapple tidbits.
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon allspice

Bake yams in moderate oven (350 F.) 1 hour, or until tender. Scoop out yams; reserve shells. Mash yams; add remaining ingredients and mix well. Fill yam shells with yam-ham mixture. Bake 15-20 minutes. Six servings.

Quick Melba

Here's a festive dessert to please your dinner guests. Spoon a drained canned cling peach half in the bottom of each serving dish; top with a ball of coffee ice cream and a spoonful of Creme de Cacao.

Gravy Gambit

When you are preparing gravy from roast turkey drippings, add two or three drops of soy sauce to it just before removing gravy from heat. It adds an agreeably exotic flavor.

If the gravy looks a little pale in color, add a dash of the popular Chinese brown gravy sauce. It will perk up the gravy immediately.

Guidance Counselor Opens Office

Bertram B. Bronson, who thought moving to Marin two years ago would mean retirement, has opened an office in his home at 90 San Gabriel drive, Fairfax, to counsel persons with problems.

Bronson was the first guidance counselor in the San Francisco public school system. He has served as vocational coordinator at the Balboa, Lincoln and Polytechnic high schools.

Distraught parents as well as lawyers have called upon Bronson for aid since he moved to Fairfax for his wife's health, he reported.

Hospital Can't Set Secession Hearing Yet

Directors of the Marin County Hospital District last night were told they could not yet set the date for public hearing on the proposed secession of the Novato area from the district.

Dr. Wilson P. Goddard of Mill Valley was elected new board president, to replace John F. O'Connell, who last week announced his resignation. Time of regular meetings was changed to 8 a.m. each fourth Thursday.

S. Ames (Bud) Pence, administrator, said the hospital still has not yet received official assurance from the state Department of Finance that exclusion of Novato would not result in lowering district population below that which was included when the district was formed.

BURDEN OF PROOF

Harold Reide, attorney for the district, said the board could not call a public hearing on the secession until such finding is made. Director William H. Thomas observed that the burden of proof actually was on the Novato group. Reide was instructed to write the state office asking speed on the population survey.

Goddard was elected on motion of Herman Hale. Also approved unanimously were the re-election of Thomas as vice president and Mrs. Marion C. Ibach as secretary.

MORNING MEETINGS

The move to morning meetings was suggested by Goddard. Mrs. Ibach said she would prefer 8 to 10 a.m. meetings even if it were necessary to hold two per month. First meeting for the new hour will be Feb. 26.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. Ibach, Herman Hale and Thomas was appointed by Goddard to propose an appointee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of O'Connell.

A suggestion to give extra pay to the 3 to 11 p.m. shift of registered nurses was made by Pence in letters to individual board members. Pence said a $5 per month increase for the nurses would cost the hospital about $90 per month extra but help in recruitment.

DECISION DELAYED

Hale voiced the opinion that if the nurses deserved such a boost because of the inconvenient hours, then "so did the other help."

Decision was put off until the next meeting.

Also along the line of aiding recruitment, Mrs. Ibach suggested the hospital conduct an "at-cost" child care service for employees, utilizing the portion of the storage building formerly used by the orthopedically handicapped children's classes. Decision on this, too, was deferred.

Pence drew only minor board reaction when he reported the six-month figures for the hospital show a $10,126 deficit.

Pence said the deficit was not nearly so large as the $27,000 deficit for last year's first six months. He said the December loss was $2,341 but the hospital is expected to earn more the second half.

The board recommended the executive group of the district's citizen advisory committee meet to consider steps in preparation for a possible future bond election.

Educator Says Schools Key To World Power

U.S. Must Give Education Top Priority — Caldwell

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The classroom is the chief battlefield between the Soviet Union's communism and American democracy, Oliver J. Caldwell of the U.S. Office of Education said today.

"The prize is world power. If we lose this battle we may lose the future," Caldwell said in an address prepared for the National School Boards Assn. convention.

"Americans everywhere must give education a much higher priority," he added. "Increased investment in education is cheap insurance against possible eclipse by communism."

Caldwell said "an educational revolution is going on in the heartland of Europe and Asia."

More than 243 million men, women and children are studying in Communist schools and colleges in Communist China and the U.S.S.R., he reported. Relatively few are Communists, but all are dominated by communism, he said.

More than a quarter of the 850 million people living in the largely undeveloped 12 million square miles in Communist China and the Soviet Union are going to school and more go every year, Caldwell said.

"Through education, communism aims to create a new kind of man for a new kind of world," Caldwell said.

To meet communist competition in education, Caldwell declared, Americans must:

Concentrate on building quality, since they will be outnumbered.

Not waste children's intelligence, the nation's greatest national asset.

Stimulate each American child to maximum achievement.

Byron S. Hollingshead, former Coe College, Iowa, president, said the United States possesses one great advantage in a traditional willingness to make changes in its school operations.

Nearly three fourths of the nation's high schools are too small to do the job needed in this day, Dr. James B. Conant said after a two-year survey.

Conant, former president of Harvard University and former U.S. ambassador to Western Germany, found U.S. high schools basically sound, without need of radical alteration. But, he said, in many states the No. 1 problem is the elimination of the small high school by school district reorganization.

2 Hospitals Get Fund Once Marin's

The Hill-Burton funds which would have been given to Marin General Hospital, except for defeat of its $950,000 bond issue in November, have been allocated in San Jose and Hayward, S. Ames Pence, administrator, told Marin County Hospital directors last night.

Pence said he also learned last week at a Los Angeles meeting of the state Advisory Hospital Council that new standards are to be used in the Los Angeles area for determining need for Hill-Burton funds which might weaken Marin General's priority in the future.

Pence said the hospitals receiving the federal aid were a Lutheran and a Catholic hospital in Hayward and a San Jose hospital which had money in its building fund to match the federal aid.

NOTHING STOPS MARY BROWN

Despite being confined to a wheel chair, Mary Brown of Mill Valley has for years served the Salvation Army by taking all telephone calls for salvage pickup in Marin County. Last year, she was hospitalized for extensive surgery. Released from the hospital, she spent months in bed—but still continued at her work, taking the calls from a bedside telephone. For her devotion, Capt. E. E. Henderson of the Salvation Army (left) and Mrs. Lucretia Hanson (center), representing the Salvation Army committee in Marin County, last week presented Miss Hanson a check in token of appreciation, to pay part of her hospital bills. Tiburon Main Street Gets Commercial Zoning Tiburon's business district was classified as a planned commercial zone yesterday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Rezoned from a "limited roadside business" classification was an area south of Tiburon boulevard and Paradise drive in the downtown portion of Tiburon.

Two properties below Paradise drive were excluded from the new zoning designation. Both fronting Racoon Strait, they are owned by Peter Wie, who has a one-family residence on his land, and Dr. Orazio G. Rosolia, who previously won approval for a proposed apartment house.

Under planned commercial zoning, individual master development plans may be approved by the county if they are in reasonable conformity with adjacent developments.

Edward Milton Tonini of Ross has indicated he will submit a master plan for a shopping center and boating facilities along the shoreline below Paradise drive.

Yesterday's zoning action was recommended by the county planning commission. It does not affect a long strip of land north of Tiburon boulevard. The planners once considered zoning the strip for administrative-professional use, but dropped the idea at the request of Fred G. Zelinsky, who owns most of it.

In other matters yesterday, the supervisors:

1. Authorized the Bay Acres Property Owners Assn. to maintain a sign identifying the tract community at San Pedro road and Bayview drive, east of San Rafael.

2. Granted Timothy Egan a permit for a sign identifying the Rafael Convalescent Hospital on North San Pedro road opposite the Northbridge tract in Santa Venetia.

3. Set for 2 p.m., Feb. 17, public hearings on the proposed Tamalpais Valley master plan and builder Henry J. Kaehler's petition for duplex zoning of 2.08 acres north of Olive avenue between Third and Fourth streets, Novato.

4. Granted Heers Brothers, Inc., a zoning adjustment permitting tract offices in the garages of Marinwood homes at 128 and 140 Blackstone drive.

5. After lengthy debate, instructed Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham to confer with Richard V. Bettini, attorney for developer Charles R. Noren, on standards for construction of roads to be privately built and maintained in Noren Estates Unit 1 near Inverness Park in West Marin.

6. Set for 3 p.m., Feb. 10, a public hearing on the appeal of Eichler Homes, Inc., from planning commission denial of an application for 20-foot front setbacks, instead of the required 25, on lots in Units 1 and 2 of the future Terra Linda Valley subdivision.

7. Rejected a $200,000 claim against the county by Mr. and Mrs. James Lee of Marin City, who charged that their severely ill son, Joseph, aged 10 months, died at Marin General Hospital Oct. 23 as a result of negligence partially attributable to county employees. Defendants, besides the county, include Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer; Dr. Eleanor N. Snyder, Mill Valley pediatrician; S. Ames Pence, Marin General Hospital administrator; the Marin County Hospital District board and 15 "John Does."

8. Referred to the public works department, for study, a proposed freeway agreement covering a stretch of Highway 101 between San Rafael and Marinwood.

9. Approved the annexation of Grace Lutheran Church property in Novato to the Novato Sanitary District.

10. Referred to County Administrator Donald A. Jensen a letter from Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools, requesting appropriation of $2,800 for part-time employment of a second teacher at the county juvenile hall.

11. Set for Feb. 24 the opening of bids on $50,000 worth of Kentfield School District bonds, part of a $300,00 issue authorized by district voters in 1956.

12. Referred to Public Works Director Brigham and County Counsel Leland H. Jordan a letter from Dr. Albrecht, county health officer, suggesting elimination of an outfall serving the Hillview Terrace and Portola Gardens Sewer Maintenance Districts in Santa Venetia. She said treatment and disinfection of sewage from the outfall is inadequate for protection of public health. She suggested the use of a nearby line owned by the neighboring Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

13. Rejected a $97.84 claim against the county by Mrs. Virginia O'Rourke of Novato for damage to her car in an accident on a county bridge in Novato.

14. Approved a recommendation by Jensen, submitted last week, for abandonment of the county's standard letterhead, which costs $50 per 5,000 sheets, in favor of a less gaudy one costing about half that amount.

15. Referred to Auditor-Controller Leon A. de Lisle a letter from Jordan asking that the auditor's office be authorized to make wage deductions for deposit of savings and repayment of loans by members of the Marin County Employees Credit Union.

16. Authorized purchase of $1,622 worth of equipment needed by the county agricultural department for its weed abatement program along county and state roads. The county will be reimbursed for $300 to be spent for spraying along state highways.

17. Tentatively agreed to enter a Marin County exhibit at the California State Fair in Sacramento Sept. 2-13, with a model of the future county civic center as central theme. A layout for an exhibit costing about $2,000 will be submitted to the board later.

18. Authorized the Marin County Camp Fire Girls and Bluebirds to conduct a peanut sale in front of the courthouse Jan. 31 to Feb. 16.

19. Asked Jensen and Mel L. Morse, executive secretary of the Marin County Humane Society, to confer with representatives of Marin's nine cities on ways of improving city collection of dog license fees. Jensen had urged that the county assume the function of collecting the fees.

U.S. Picking First Man To Travel Space

NEW YORK (AP)—Selection of America's first human space traveler is under way.

T. Keith Glennan, U.S. space chief, startled a dinner meeting of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences with this disclosure last night.

The new federal space agency, he said, has picked 110 rugged young Americans as candidates for the first manned satellite to orbit the earth.

They will assemble in Washington for further tests, Glennan said, and be asked to volunteer for space flight. Within three months, their ranks will be reduced to about a dozen.

The 110 potential American space pioneers were not listed by name. Glennan gave these qualifications of the man who finally will be selected:

1. A university degree in psysical science or engineering.

2. A graduate of an Air Force or Navy test-pilot training school with at least 1,500 flying hours.

3. Superb physical and psychological condition.

4. Younger than 40 and no taller than 5 feet 11.

Space Experts Predict Landing On Planet Mars Within 10 Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Top space experts said today that within 10 years men could be landing on Mars, reaching out for Jupiter, living in space stations and telecasting to all the world.

Moreover, one expert—Dr. Eugen Sanger of the Technical University of Stuttgart—said men within 40 years may be flashing to the stars and galaxies at the speed of light—186,000 miles a second. He also said men may be destroying their enemies with death rays.

The dazzling futuristic forecasts—compiled in a report by the House Space Committee—were written by 56 space experts in the United States, Great Britain, Germany, Italy and the Far East.

They followed disclosure by Dr. T. Keith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, that the United Staes already has started selecting the pilot for its first manned space satellite. He will be picked from among 110 candidates.

Glennan said in a New York speech that the group of 110 would be narrowed down to 12 by the time the U. S. "Project Mercury" is ready to launch a manned satellite. A final selection will be made only immediately befort the launching.

The House committee's report predicted these space developments by 1969:

1. Designs for rockets capable of boring through the earth, construction of underwater cargo ships and operation of manned orbital bombers.

2. Space probes to the planet Mercury.

3. Accurate weather forecasting.

4. Various stages of progress on such forms of rocket propulsion as ionic and photonic power, plasma jets, solar boilers, magnetic braking and even solar sails—a sail propelled by light from the sun.

One expert—George Haller, a General Electric Co. vice president — summed up the tone of the report in his statement:

"Man's venture into space is the great enterprise of this century. Tremendous progress has already been made. Yet in the light of what remains to be done all that has been accomplished so far is no more than a tennis ball as viewed in relation to the earth."

All of the experts based their predictions on the assumption that men are willing to make the necessary effort—and pay the price. They made clear the price would be staggering. But so would be the gains.

HOLSTEIN COW'S FIFTH LEG PROVES TO BE A NUISANCE

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa. (AP) — A fifth leg has proved no advantage for an 8-year-old Holstein cow owned by Tom West.

In fact, it's a downright nuisance for the animal and for West, who operates a dairy farm near here.

Although the spare leg is of normal length it doesn't reach the ground because it is connected between the animal's left shoulder and neck.

The hoof gets no wear and has grown too long. The cow has no control of the leg. It isn't even useful for swating flies. When the cow moves her head abruptly to the right, the leg swings around and raps her in the head.

In other respects, the cow is just as normal as 50 others in West's dairy herd. She yields about five gallons of milk a day—standard for the herd.

Measure Would Transfer Power To Acquire Land

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill to take land acquisition powers away from the state Department of Beaches and Parks was introduced in the Legislature yesterday.

The measure (AB717), co-authored by Assemblymen Jesse Unruh (D-Los Angeles) and Bruce Sumner (R-Newport Beach), would turn the power over to the Property Acquisition Division of the Department of Finance.

The Department of Public Works would continue to acquire property for highway purposes.

"This bill," Sumner said, "is aimed at the Department of Beaches and Parks."

"One of the biggest delays that we have run into in the development of the beaches and parks program is the slowness of that department to acquire property."

Redwood High P-TA To Award An Honorary Life Membership

On Thursday, Feb. 19, at 8 p.m. the regular monthly meeting of the Redwood High School Parent-Teacher Assn. will be held in the Choral Room of Redwood High School.

One of the outstanding events of this meeting, which, appropriately, comes during Parent-Teacher Assn. Founders' Day week, will be the awarding of an honorary life membership. Mrs. William Hoxie, who is honorary life membership chairman, has announced that the recipient of this signal honor will not be revealed until the night of the meeting.

The library department of Redwood High, under the direction of head librarian Miss Mildred Mateer and her assistant, Mrs. Marguerite Gilbert, has prepared an interesting program and will present and demonstrate new techniques in library science, including the new charge plate system now in operation. A tour of the the whole library facility and the text book area will be arranged for all guests. They will be conducted through the library by the president of the Student Library Staff Club, Dawn Jones, and other students on the library staff.

The meeting will also include a display in the art room of students' work in the field of arts and crafts. Wallace MacDonald and Ronald Hurt of the art department will present a program and demonstration of the graphic arts as they are new being taught at Redwood High School and will exhibit among other work the design for the new book plates to be used in those books given to the school library by interested donors.

"Volunteer-ily Yours," hilarious live production, which will be one unit of Social Service Auxiliary's benefit theater party, "Cinema-Antics," is already in rehearsal for presentation Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 10, 1 p.m. at the Sequoia Theater in Mill Valley.

Miss Space Age

"Miss Space Age of 1975" won't look like the briefly-clad beauties we know today, says Albert Hey, space systems control coordinator with an aircraft engineering corporation. The government has spent millions of dollars to fashion perfect space suits, which will overcome weightlessness, meteorite bombardment and cosmic radiation, he said. Such a suit consists of five layers—lightweight long johns, a ventilating garment through which air is pumped to cool the person, an anti-gravity suit, pressure suit, and an aluminated outer garment as protection against heat and cosmic radiation.

Modern Dance Topic For Outdoor Art Club

Welland Lathrop of San Francisco, former pupil of Martha Graham and head of the department of lyric theater at San Francisco State College, gave a lecture and demonstration on the modern dance at the recent guest day meeting of the Outdoor Art Club.

He was assisted in the demonstration of the plastic, dramatic and comedy types of choreography by three young women, all dancing barefoot and in costume to recorded music.

Illustrating the plastic type was a dance done to the D Major Partita of Bach, in which Lathrop pointed out the importance of both rhythmic and spatial composition.

Demonstrating the dramatic type was "Lamentation of Three Women," and the four dancers concluded with a comedy done to a scrambled tape recording.

In his lecture Lathrop said that dancing is entertainment in that it should give pleasure — though not necessarily the funny or escape kind.

Explaining some of the differences between ballet and the modern dance, he stated that the ballet is constructed on vertical lines, whereas the modern dance techniques are built around spine positions which are not always straight.

"In the modern dance," he explained, "you should watch the spine, and if the dancer is really good, you should get a kinesthetic response up and down the spine that should result in pleasure."

"Dancers actually rest," he pointed out, "by standing straighter instead of slumping."

In this connection the superb posture of the dancers when merely sitting or standing was notable and one of the dominant impressions of the performance.

Both techniques, ballet and the modern approach, are necessary today, Lathrop concluded. Any dancer who expects to get a job in a Broadway show must have training in both.

OLD MILL P.TA

Ralph Groves Speaks On Public School Education

A large audience at the recent meeting of the Old Mill Parent-Teachers Assn. heard Ralph Groves of Mill Valley outline the development of public school education in the United States.

Groves, who is a former chairman of the Mill Valley Elementary School Board and present president of the San Francisco Bay Area Education Council, gave a comparative report on the simplicity of administering public education in colonial days with its complexities today.

Copies of early day textbooks were displayed, together with present day text, to illustrate the evelution of education in the United States.

Extent to which the system has grown was illustrated in charts showing the current number of employees in the state department of education as 1,245, in the county as 59, and in the Mill Valley Elementary District as 107.

Groves pointed out "That our local district is doing a job educating our children that will decide whether we are going to be here as a United States of America," and that "We, as citizens, are the only ones who can make this a meaningful education."

After Grove's address the Mill Valley Elementary School Board of Trustees conducted some of its regular business so that the audience could see its school board in action.

Pete Buck, a P-TA member, spoke of the importance of bringing fathers into P-TA work and emphasized that work must be done locally to insure passage of the bond issue.

Mrs. Edmond Gross, P-TA president, announced that there will not be a general meeting in February because of the Docu-drama on schools set for Feb. 20 and 21. This is a documentary to be presented in drama form on school situations by the Mill Valley Masquers under the direction of Dr. Earl Marsh. Those interested were requested to watch for further announcements.

Coffee was served by Mrs. Conner's first grade room mothers, Mrs, Homer Swartz and Mrs. Gwynne Peticolas.

Education Chief Lauds Teaching Of Skills At Elementary Levels

That the public elementary schools in California are doing a better job than ever before in the teaching of the skills is the contention of Miss Helen Heffernan, Chief of the Bureau of Elementary Education, State of California, who spoke before the general membership of the Reed Parent-Teacher Club recently at the Reed School.

"We know how to teach the skills," she said "and are studying all the time in order to do even a better job. As a result, California now exceeds the national norms in achievement in the basic skill subjects."

Miss Heffernan emphasized that there are other goals in education as important as the Three R's. She particularly mentioned citizenship and cited the fact that, although we are constantly made aware of a 2 per cent figure for juvenile delinquency, we rarely praise the 98 per cent who are not delinquent. This to her is proof of how well citizenship is taught.

Education should also be concerned with the physical growth of the children. This is provided in California by health and physical education and school lunch programs, she said. She described a school in Norway which she had visited where complete medical and dental care was a function of the school. Mental and emotional growth in the school is extremely important also for "a child must think well of himself before he thinks well of others," she added.

Another goal, she believes, is the teaching of subjects that "open windows on life." These are art, music, literature and dancing. All of these subjects make life rich and should be included in the curriculum, she said.

As part of our educating for living in a democracy there are certain basic democratic values that should be instilled in the children, she told the audience. These are three in number: Realism, the willingness to seek the facts and act in accordance with them; respect for the sanctity of the human personality, so every child should be educated to the top level of his potential; and moral integrity, which is the willingness to live by accepted values.

Citing a conference she had recently attended at Harriman, New York, at which educators, magazine editors and individuals antagonistic to present day public education were present, Miss Heffernan described her experiences in answering the critics who used European schools as examples of good educational procedures.

These antagonists believe only the top 15 per cent intellectually should be educated which Miss Heffernan says is not democratic. They oppose vocational education which must be provided if we are teaching all of the children and they oppose guidance programs. Miss Heffernan reminded the audience that teachers are constantly engaged in guiding throughout the school day.

"The fact that we have seven per cent of the world's population and 40 per cent of its wealth is no accident," she said. "How did we get that way? Through rich resources and this tremendous experiment of educating all of our children."

She described a good school as one with adequate school facilities; small classes which she emphasized as extremely important; a calm, relaxed atmosphere; a curriculum providing for the teaching of skills and cultural subjects; provisions for individual differences between children; a richer environment through libraries, TV, motion picture, etc., for all children, especially the gifted; parent teacher cooperation; great community interest and basic training in citizenship. "Because of our wonderful cultural diversity, children must be taught to appreciate one another regardless of race, color or creed," she said.

The Reed District was praised by her for two recent projects, the publication of "Shark Point, High Point," eighth grade history of the Tiburon Peninsula and the Evaluation Program. Regarding the book she stated "How wonderful it would be if all districts could write a history of their areas. It would make history real to the children." On the Evaluation Program she said that educators want expressions from the community and wishes such a study could be countrywide.

At the business meeting the Club voted to send a representative to a countywide meeting at the Rod and Gun Club on Feb. 2 to support the idea of a public indoor rifle range which will be discussed by many community groups at that time. Tabled was a motion to provide a Club-sponsored Hunter Safety program for the children.

The group unanimously approved a resolution supporting the tax rate increase for the Tamalpais High School District to be before the voters on Feb. 17. Also authorized was the appointment of a Library Committee as a standing committee of the Club to assist the District with the school libraries. Mrs. Ralph Meyers was appointed chairman. Other appointments were Mrs. Edwin Drechsel, sales chairman for "Shark Point, High Point," Ray Bunker, alternate representative to the Tiburon Coordinating Council; Messrs. John Runnels, Philip Wolfe and Frank Hogue, scout representatives and Mrs. H. F. Green, Bulletin editor.

Redwood Rompers Plan Spring Dance Season

Redwood Rompers Square Dance Club of Mill Valley's 1959 season was kicked off in true square dance style recently with a joint pot luck dinner dance between the club and the "Junior Rompers" of Mill Valley at Hammond Hall. In attendance also were dancers from the neighboring club, Double Eight Squares.

The Rompers, under the leadership of Dick Graves, president, Margaret Graves, vice-president and publicity, and Bev Rider, secretary-treasurer, have planned a number of events for the spring season which will include newer dancers' participation. Among these was the Marin County Square Dancers Association's Fun Level Hoe Down at Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo recently, when the Redwood Rompers served as the host club with their caller, Al Malone. Adding to the evening's enjoyment of the eighteen couples present was the guest calling by "Bros" Broessel and "Sparky" Sparks (caller for the San Anselmo's Hay Balers) of Marin County and Peg Allmond of San Francisco.

Marin General League Has Board Meeting

Board members of the Marin General Hospital League recently met in the lounge at Marin General. Mrs. J. P. McFarland, president, thanked Mrs. William Noon, Mrs. Ralph Alden, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Mills, Frank Wilner and Mrs. George Ingram for creating the beautiful Christmas decor, as well as Mrs. Blanche Thomas of the Independent Order of Foresters who was responsible for special decorations, presents and mobiles in the children's ward at both Thanksgiving and Christmas. Mrs. Leslie Clason, chairman of baby photos, reported a profit of $193.96 for December and Mrs. William Miles said that the TV operation for the same month netted $441.00.

A series of visits has been made by Mrs. McFarland and Mrs. Russel Chatham, assistant director of volunteers, to various hospitals in San Francisco, and the East Bay, to correlate the Marin General Service League program with similar auxiliary programs

Mill Valley P-TA Council Prepares Information Course

A course in "Parent-Teacher Information" is being organized, according to Mrs. Clifford W. Young, president, by the Mill Valley P-TA Council for presentation during the next two months.

Feb. 2 is the date selected for the first meeting to be held at 10 a. m. in the home of Mrs. James Behr, Homestead P-TA president. Dates and places for future meetings will be announced then.

"This course is a 'must' for all officers and chairmen," said Mrs. Young, "because it will inform them concerning the organization, operation, procedures and policies of P-TA. It should also increase their awareness of the strength and prestige of the state and national organizations."

"The course is timely," she remarked, "since the P-TA celebrates its founding in February."

Those Report Cards—Don't Put Too Much Emphasis On Grades

Report cards are necessary. One way or another teachers must tell us how our youngsters are doing. But report cards are a nuisance too. You've noticed? Here are four important cautions about report cards.

Remember the cards tell only what the teacher thinks about your child. Her opinion is important. Probably she's right. But there's always a chance she's wrong. When in doubt make an appointment with her. Ask her for details.

Remember that conditions change. Your boy may have received top grades last year. This year, with another teacher, his grades may be lower. And he may be trying just as hard. Teachers differ. Children change. Subjects change. Grades vary.

Don't forget that children are different too. Maybe your eldest girl was a natural scholar. She got fine grades. She had a wonderful mind, and the habit of using it. So you expect your younger girl to get good report cards too. But she doesn't. She gets average grades, or lower. If that happens, be careful. Don't punish the younger one. Instead, check on her abilities. Ask for an intelligence test. She may not be quite so blessed mentally as the eldest one. She may be working much harder, and still get lower grades. Judge each child by her own ability and her own past record. Not by what someone else has done.

Try not to overemphasize report cards. They're important. But so are a lot of other things. The disgrace of a bad report shouldn't last too long. The rewards for a good card shouldn't be too big. Most of the children who get bad report cards turn out to be fine, constructive, capable people. Don't let the report cards get in the way of your family love and companionship. Good luck!

READERS' FORUM

Mr. L. T. "What type of report card would be best for our grade school?"

Reply. The answer depends on the school and the neighborhood. What's good in one place is bad in another. Representative parents and teachers need to get together periodically and revise report cards cooperatively.

'THEY'LL MISS ME WHEN I'M GONE — The pile of junk in front of Ernest R. Vogel's condemned Grant avenue junk shop in Novato is rapidly dwindling—especially since he invited Goodwill Industries to "help yourselves." Vogel (with lawn mower) faces edict of get out or go to court.

'THEY'LL MISS ME'

Junk Shop Must Go, And Charity Benefits

Ernest R. Vogel today invited Goodwill Industries to help itself to anything it wanted in his condemned Grant avenue junk shop in Novato. He is attempting to vacate the 78-year-old building that Novato fire commissioners have ruled is a hazard.

Vogel, a resident of Novato for more than 50 years, has operated the junk business from the dilapidated building for five years. He said today he will either sell or burn what remains after Goodwill Industries has taken what it wants.

"I'll be out of the place by the first of February and out of the lot next door by the 15th," he said.

Harold F. Wolters, deputy district attorney, said Vogel had earlier agreed to be out of the building by the middle of January.

"He said he'd close up rather than go to court. If he doesn't leave soon we may have to move him out," said Wolters.

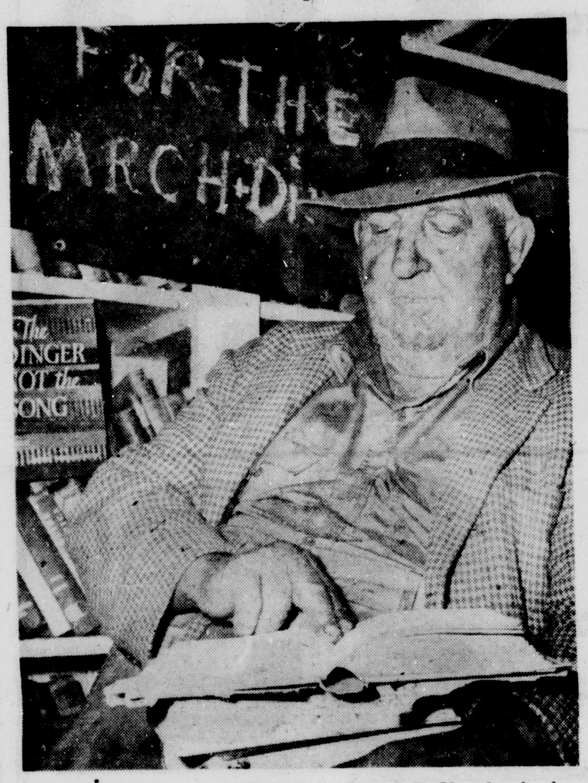
That would call for court action to abate the building as a public nuisance, he said.

Vogel, meanwhile, appeared to be complying with the spirit, if not the letter of his agreement with the district attorney and the Novato Fire District.

Salvage workers this week have hauled away several thousand used books, assorted clothing, bedding and numerous items of junk that were Vogel's stock in trade.

"They'll miss me when I'm gone," said Vogel as he looked over the rapidly dwindling pile of goods. "They've come here from everywhere looking for things. If I ever reopen the business, it'll have to be on a much smaller scale."

For the moment, however, Vogel and his adult daughter, Ann, who has assisted him in his musty shop at the eastern end of Grant avenue, will move across the street to carry on business in his "Fix-it" shop, another old and unpainted building. "There," Vogel says, "We'll mend everything but a broken heart."



BUSINESSMAN AT LEISURE — Ernest R. Vogel, who has been ordered to clear out his Novato junk shop because it is a fire hazard, relaxes with an old book from his dwindling stock. (Independent-Journal photo)

Jobless Pay For Ex-Convicts Urged

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—What can be done to keep ex-convicts from returning to crime?

Unemployment payments would help, says editor Ed Carr of the Jefftown Journal. The Journal is the Missouri State Prison newspaper.

In an editorial, inmate editor Carr said that about half the men released from prison have families. These dependents are dropped from state welfare rolls when the convict is freed.

"Are you surprised that he turns to crime in order to feed his family?" the editorial asked.

Carr said 13 weeks of unemployment pay at $30 a week for ex-convicts would be a small cost compared to supporting a convict at $1,500 a year, perhaps for life.

Council Of Mayors Meets Tonight

The first 1959 meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors will be held this evening with Mill Valley as host city. It is scheduled for 7 o'clock at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse.

A round table discussion on fire protection in the unincorporated areas is scheduled, according to City Manager A. E. Almcrants.

No Decision On Quitting Hub Post

Lawrence Antolini, whose verbal resignation from the San Anselmo Civil Service Board of Review was not accepted by the city council, said today he was undecided whether to submit a second resignation in writing.

Antolini said he had been asked by three city councilmen to remain on the board of review.

His resignation came at 12:30 a.m. on Jan. 14 after the city council rejected a board of review recommendation that James A. Farmer, 63-year-old police officer, be retained as clerk-dispatcher and special police officer for the two years remaining before he reaches retirement age.

Meeting Tonight On Tam Tax Hike

A public meeting on the Tamalpais Union High School District's special tax rate increase election will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Greenbrae School's multi-purpose room.

The election, on Feb. 17, calls for an increase in the basic tax rate ceiling for Drake, Redwood and Tamalpais High Schools from $1.25 to $1.90. The present ceiling has been in existence since 1947. On top of the $1.25 are 10 cents in "over-ride" taxes and 20 cents for bond payments, which would be unchanged by the election.

Tonight's speaker will be Supt. Chester G. Carlisle. A question-and-answer period will be held.

Marines Training Aviators Again

The Marine Corps has gone back into the business of training its own aviators after a 17-year lapse.

Capt. William J. Livingston, inspector-instructor of the 14th Rifle Company, Marine Corps Reserve, said today a limited number of openings exist for the special enlisted grade of Marine aviation cadet under the new pilot training program. Further information is available at the Marine Corps Reserve Training Center in Kentfield.

State Appraiser To Join Oko Office

Wallace Bruce Street, senior appraiser for the California Department of Veterans Affairs, Division of Farm and Home Purchases, has submitted his resignation after 10 years in the department.

He will be associated with the A. S. Oko realty office in the Inverness-Point Reyes Station section of Marin County.

Prior to joining the veterans' bureau, Street was appraiser for the San Joaquin County assessor's office in Stockton, and was appraiser for the Federal Housing Administration and Army Engineers. He will take up residence in the Inverness-Point Reyes area soon. He has been residing in Sacramento while in state employ.

New Dispute Erupts On Apartment Project

An apartment development proposed for the Meadowsweet area south of Corte Madera generated its usual share of controversy at yesterday's meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Watered down from 64 apartment units to 52, and then to 35, the development plan for the 3.45-acre Balzarini-Moats property still is bitterly opposed by the Meadowsweet Improvement Assn.

The association not only objects to a 35-unit project, approved by the county planning commission, but also wants the acreage returned to its original zoning classification of limited agricultural.

WAS REZONED

It was rezoned last summer as a planned residential district, in which apartments are permitted subject to approval of a master development plan.

Several association members yesterday asked the supervisors to schedule a night hearing on the 35-unit plan, as they had done on the ill-fated 52-unit proposal.

This brought immediate objections from Phillip A. Kennedy, San Rafael attorney representing Mr. and Mrs. John A. Balzarini, co-owners of the property with Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan C. Moats.

Kennedy indicated his clients wish to proceed on the basis of 35 units and said they don't want the land zoned back to its former classification. Furthermore, he said, the supervisors and planners are now "in full accord" on the acceptability of a 35-unit development, which would assure a duplex-type density.

SEES NO REASON

Supervisor William D. Fusselman, in whose district the property lies, said he could see "no reason for a big mass meeting like we had before." He said the record of previous meetings shows association members expressed satisfaction with duplex density, "and 35 units provides it."

Disagreeing, Supervisor William A. Gnoss said the opponents are entitled to another night hearing "if they want to make one last protest."

Fusselman asked County Counsel Leland H. Jordan if the property could be zoned back to limited agricultural without the consent of the owners. Jordan said he was not entirely familiar with the immediate case. He pointed out, nevertheless, that the courts are "very reluctant" to approve such rezoning if a property owner has spent money on development.

ASKS STATUS

"What's the status of your clients?" Fusselman asked Kennedy.

"We hired an architect and an engineer, and I was hired to present density figures to the planning commission and your board," the attorney replied. "So money has been spent."

On Fusselman's motion, the board asked Jordan to submit a written opinion on the case, with copies to be sent all interested parties. The motion also continued the matter until the opponents, having seen the opinion, return to the board and report their position.

"They may find they don't want a night hearing after all," Fusselman said.

Planner Aides To Meet

The 14-member committee appointed by the San Anselmo City Council to work with Planner James M. Campbell will hold an organizational meeting at 8 o'clock tonight at the home of chairman A. Von Rotz at 1 Alpine Terrace, San Anselmo.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Quick Passport Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey says he will introduce legislation to guarantee every American citizen the right to obtain a passport within 30 days with a few emergency exceptions.

The Minnesota Democrat, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the bill is intended to spell out the Supreme Court's ruling last year that the right to travel is guaranteed by the 5th Amendment to the Constitution.

Danish King Recovers

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) —King Frederik IX has nearly recovered from the minor rupture of a lung caused last Christmas Eve by a violent coughing spell.

They will fly to Ottawa from Berlin and will visit New York, Washington, Springfield, Ill. and California.

Election Of Education Board Sought

SACRAMENTO — Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) has introduced two measures which would completely change the method of selecting the state Board of Education and the state superintendent of public instruction.

McCarthy proposed a Senate bill and a constitutional amendment which together would provide for the election of the Board of Education and the appointment of the superintendent by the elected board. At present the situation is reversed, the superintendent being elected and the board members being appointed by the governor.

BY DISTRICT

Under the terms of McCarthy's proposals, board members would be elected by district with two members from each of six districts. They would serve four-year staggered terms so voters would register preferences every two years. No member could serve more than two terms.

Initially, the first five would be elected in 1962. Subsequent elections would replace those now serving under appointments until all were elected.

One of the twin measures would provide immediate amendment of Education Code provisions. The other would be the constitutional amendment submitted to the people at the next general election.

TRANSIT ACT

The Marin senator also introduced a bill Monday amending the Bay Area Transit District act to delete provisions prohibiting officers and employees from entering into contracts or having financial interest in firms doing business with the district.

The bill would substitute Government Code provisions covering "conflict of interest."

McCarthy was named to the Joint Budget Committee, which will have the final say in ironing out differences between Senate and Assembly versions of the state budget.

Meanwhile, Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister (R-San Rafael) has introduced legislation authorizing appointment of full-time court reporters (in addition to part-time ones already authorized) for Marin municipal courts.

QUALIFY FOR BENEFITS

The proposed new law would permit court reporters to qualify for county retirement plan and other county employee benefits.

McCollister said the measure was requested by Marin Municipal Court judges. He said further, however, that he would not press for its adoption unless or until the county board of supervisors advises him of its approval. He also said he would like approval by the Marin Grand Jury.

Another McCollister bill would abolish the $3 annual fee paid by press photographers and amateur radio operators who have special license plates. Instead, they would be charged $3 only on those years when new plates are issued.

Teagarden In Hospital

GLENDALE (UPI)—Jazz trombonist Jack Teagarden, 54, was reported "resting comfortably" today at Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital where he underwent surgery of the lower abdominal wall.

Hawaii Bill Favored

Statehood backers rested their case today at the House committee's hearings. No opposition witnesses were in sight.

Tuna Imports Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Government reported today that U.S. imports of tuna, largely from Japan, increased sharply in 1958.

The total American tuna pack, including both American-caught and imported tuna, increased from 11,900,000 cases in 1957 to an estimated 14,300,000 cases last year. Imports of canned tuna also reached a new record, at 2,300,000 cases.

Convict Killed In Brawl

TIJUANA (UPI)—Prison officials said one man was killed and five others wounded yesterday in a knife fight in Baja California State Penitentiary, about 10 miles east of here.

Inmates fought with secretly-made knives in a dispute over leadership among the convicts. They did not attempt to break out.

Something's Mixed Up

CHICAGO (UPI) — Edward Meier, president of the 45th Ward Democratic organization, said a constituent came to him with this complaint:

He got a ticket yesterday for driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

About an hour and a half later he got a ticket for driving the opposite direction on the same street—for the same violation.

Meier investigated and found that in the interval, street crews had discovered they put the one-way signs up wrong and turned them around. The unidentified driver will probably have to pay both fines anyway, Meier said.

Climber Replies

MERCED (UPI)—The leader of the first ascent of the sheer south wall of Yosemite's famed El Capitan figures his profit from the daring climb averaged about five cents hourly.

Warren Harding, 34, of West Sacramento, made the statement yesterday while labeling as "ridiculous" a ban on "trick or stunt" climbing announced earlier this week by National Parks Director Conrad L. Wirth. The director had claimed the El Capitan climb was made for commercial purposes.

Citizen Unit Tells Plan Approval

The Sausalito Citizens Council has officially informed the Sausalito Planning Commission of its unanimous approval of the Sausalito general plan as presented last week by planner Sydney H. Williams.

A letter signed by President M. Justin Herman reported a vote was taken at a meeting of the Citizens Council last week.

Herman's letter asked for a continuation of "adequate advance notice of all meetings" when the plan is to be considered.

Planning commission meetings on the plan had previously been scheduled for tonight and tomorrow at 8 o'clock in the Sausalito City Hall.

20-30 Club Sets Bottle Drive

The San Rafael 20-30 Club will stage a bottle drive in Terra Linda Sunday to raise money for the club's annual Easter egg hunt.

Other bottle drives will be staged next month in Marinwood, and in March in San Rafael.

David Phillips, project chairman, said bottles will be picked up from Terra Linda front porches between 9 a. m. and noon Sunday.

Any person anywhere in the county wishing to contribute bottles may send a postcard to the 20-30 Club at P. O. Box 66, San Rafael, said Phillips.

MEDICAL RARITY

Disc Jockey Nears 200 Hours Without Sleep

NEW YORK (AP) — A young and comparatively unknown disc jockey stands today on the threshhold of an unmatched medical achievement — 200 sleepless hours under constant scientific watch.

Doctors and psychiatrists who have been watching him, and helping him fight off collapse, think Peter Tripp, 32, is a medical rarity. They also admire him for his driving determination. Without it, they say, nothing could have kept his eyes open so long.

Tripp's personality has changed what seemed like another publicity stunt into an interesting scientific experiment.

"There has never been such a study made before," says Dr. Louis Jolyon West, director of psychiatry for the University of Oklahoma Medical School. "This man has been under 24-hour psychiatric observation for over a week. Every utterance, every attitude during this great stress has been noted down. There is nothing we haven't measured. We know him through and through. And I'll tell you something, he's a man."

Tripp, who plays records nightly for three hours over radio station WMGM, started it all by saying he would stay awake 200 hours to draw attention to the March of Dimes campaign fo funds.

Doctors drew back when asked to supervise the stunt. West, who has studied the strange effects of sleep deprivation, was interested but wary. He came to New York and spent two days talking to Tripp before deciding the information he might gain would be worth the uncomfortable public spotlight.

West's endorsement brought in the Air Force's surgeon general, represented by a noted psychologist from Walter Reed Army Institute of Research, Maj. Harold Williams. The Cornell Medical School and the Albert Einstein Institute got permission to make some tests too.

Tripp's 200 hours — 8½ days—will be up at 7:14 p.m. EST tonight. Even if he falls short of this goal, West and Williams know of no one else who has gone as long as Tripp without sleep under minute-by-minute supervision.

What does it matter? What do you gain from watching a man stay awake?

"Medically, there is great interest in sleep deprivation," West says. "It induces a kind of mental disturbance which can be reversed. Mental health research is handicapped by the difficulty of trying to produce the disease in a laboratory for study."

There are numerous other scientific aspects of the study, most of them having to do with the brain and the central nervous system.

Jail Averted In Drunk Driving Case

San Rafael bartender Larry Francis Blakely, 49, of 623 Mission avenue, barely escaped a jail term this week for his second drunken driving offense, only because the previous conviction occurred 10 years ago.

Judge Richard M. Sims of Marin Municipal Court put Blakely on six months probation, took his license away for 90 days and slapped on a $250 fine. Blakely was caught on Nov. 9, 1958, on Highway 101. His previous drunken driving conviction in 1949 was stricken from the records. This saved Blakely from a mandatory jail term.

Two other drunken drivers were fined yesterday by Judge Sims.

Sidney Edward Willburn, 31, of Ukiah, who worked for a lumber company in Larkspur, drew three months probation and $200 fine. Willburn was caught on Black Point cutoff last Dec. 27.

Edwin Samuel Rainey, 52, of 100 Broadmoor avenue, San Anselmo, must pay $250 fine and remain on 90 days' probation. San Anselmo police caught Rainey last Jan. 3 on Redhill avenue.

Taxpayer Assn. Board Meets Friday Evening

The board of directors of the Marin County Taxpayers Assn. will meet Friday at 8 p. m. in the courtroom of Department 3 of superior court in the county courthouse.

All taxpayers are welcome, said P. J. Rowland, president.

Homestead Club Planning Social

The Homestead Improvement Club will host an old-fashioned Valentine Day basket social Feb. 14 at 8 p.m. at Brown's Hall.

The event will raise money for clubhouse repairs and taxes as well as to provide an informal "get-together," according to president Bernard J. Tomberlaine.

Basket dinners for two, prepared by women of the club, will be disguised with plain paper and auctioned, Tomberlaine said. Games will follow the dinner.

Further information may be obtained from director Mel Henriod at Springett's Outdoor Shop, Tomberlaine said.

Lions Officers To Meet

The officers of Marin County's 13 Lions Clubs will meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Mission Inn in San Rafael to hear International Director Maurice Perstein speak on "Youth Counseling in Marin."

Choir From Redlands U. To Sing In Hub

The University of Redlands Concert Choir under the direction of Prof. Erwin Ruff will perform at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the First Baptist Church of San Anselmo. The 40-voice choir will present, among other selections, "Beautiful Saviour," by Christiansen; "The Joys of Mary," a spiritual; "Lord, Thou Hast Been Our Rescue," by R. Vaughn Williams and "The Creation," by Tom Scott.

Every year the university group tours California, and on alternate years, the seven western states. Their programs draw upon an extensive repertoire of chorale music, with selections ranging from sacred to the most secular.

An offering will be taken during the concert at the San Anselmo church, but there will be no admission charge.

Daughter Joins Mom In Sausalito Play

A mother and daughter join in one of the county's most interesting dramatic teams in Sausalito Little Theater's "The Innocents" which opens Friday for five successive Friday and Saturday evening performances. Curtain is at 8:30.

The play is adapted from the Henry James novel, "Turn of the Screw," and has a cast of four speaking roles including two children, plus two non-speaking roles. The plot involves the story of a governess who arrives to care for the children who she believes to be possessed of evil spirits.

The two children are "The Innocents."

One of the children, Flora, is played by Pippa White of Sausalito, while the housekeeper, Mrs. Grose, is played by her mother, Nancy White. Both have appeared previously in Sausalito Little Theater productions.

The second "Innocent," Miles, is played by 12-year-old Walter Beech of Tiburon. Although he has played other roles in Marin dramatics, this will be his Sausalito Little Theater debut.

The difficult part of the governess is played by Maureen Herberger, a drama student at San Francisco State College, who has had extensive experience in Sacramento little theater, television and at college.

Dixie Board May Let Contract

Contract for a four-classroom and multi-use room addition to Hoffman School may be awarded by the Dixie School District board at its meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the district office at 4775 Redwood highway, according to Supt. Dennie B. Willis.

The board also is to authorize purchase of furniture and equipment for the Lucas Valley School and establish polling places for the May trustee election.

Resignation of Mrs. Carole Carlson, a third grade teacher now on leave, is to be presented.

Concert Form Of Opera Hinders Callas

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP

NEW YORK (UPI)—Maria Callas made a so-so operatic comeback at Carnegie Hall last night, but celebrity and socialite fans gave her a welcome worthy of a queen.

Miss Callas looked stunning in a slim white Italian gown with a rose satin stole. She was in fairly good voice and had the support of a strong cast. She had an audience that believed she could do no wrong. All she needed was an opera house.

CONCERT VERSION

But without the Metropolitan Opera stage at her disposal, Miss Callas had to make do in a concert version of opera—without costumes, stage sets, or real action except for a few gestures. This can really hold a diva of Miss Callas' dramatic talents down.

Nearly 3,000 Callas-worshippers heard their idol for the first time locally since the Met's Rudolf Bing locked her out for breach of contract last year

Almost no one present was familiar with the opera, Bellini's "The Pirate," because it hasn't been performed in the United States since the 1840s.

HER OWN CAST

The diva was taking no chances on this performance. She brought her own conductor, Nicola Rescigno, from Chicago, and her tenor, Piero Miranda-Ferraro, and baritone, Costantino Ego, from La Scala.

She also behaved herself. Allen Sven Oxenburg, the American Opera Society's director, said he'd never worked "with such an absolute angel."

But "The Pirate" proved to be a rather unexciting example of florid, romantic 19th century opera, not really suited to static concert presentation. Miss Callas' role, however, gave her a chance to portray vocally a gamut of emotions—love, despair, sacrifice and lunacy.

Name Homemaker At Tomales High

Tomales Union High School will be represented in the "Homemaker of Tomorrow" contest by Diana Beal, 17-year-old senior majoring in home economics. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Beal of Valley Ford, Sonoma County.

Four other Marin County high school girls are participating in the contest sponsored by General Mills Corp. They are Sandra Louise Fraize of Marin Catholic; Ann Royle of San Rafael High, Judy Webb of Redwood and Jeanette Miller of Drake.
